FIGHT OVER TOLLS WILL REACH CRISIS IN HOUSE TUESDAY

Final Attack by Speaker Clark to Be Followed by Vote on Repeal Proposal.

ENDS OF WILSON CONFIDENT

Hamilton of Michigan Today Will Show Treaty Demands Equal Rights to All.

WIS. U. S. RIGHT OF DEFENSE

ST. JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN, Washington, D. C., March 25.—(Special.)—The crisis in the house over the proposal to repeal the Panama canal tolls will reach its climax in the house on Tuesday.

Speaker Champ Clark, defeated by the majority of the administration in the fight to the close of the last Friday, will make a final effort to defeat the repeal bill. His address, winding up the arguments of all those opposed to the repeal, will be followed by the vote of the house on the bill as a whole.

The administration leaders are confident the vote will give them the victory. Only fifty-five Democratic members of the house followed the speaker in his division with the majority on Friday. The president was backed by 277 members of the house, composed of a coalition of Democrats, Republicans and a few Progressives.

Clark Speech Kapt Secret. The speaker has maintained silence since his defeat on Friday, and every effort is being made to keep any hint of what he is doing on Tuesday from reaching the public eye. He is expected to make a final effort to get the bill passed.

Hamilton of Michigan today will show the treaty demands equal rights to all. He will argue that the treaty demands equal rights to all, and that the tolls are a violation of this principle.

Wilson Silent on Division. President Wilson has made no comment regarding the breach in the Democratic ranks, and so far as is known contemplates making none. He made his plea to the congress and awaits results. Close advisers of the president insist, however, that he will not make a personal political appeal to the congress.

CAR LINE SCHEME TO 'GRAB' STREET BLOCKED BY COURT

Judge Grants Order Restraining Company from Laying Tracks in Franklin.

REAL SERIO-COMEDY STAGED

Pavement Torn Up Saturday and City's Men Work All Sunday to Place It Back.

CLOSED BRIDGE CAUSE OF MOVE

The Chicago Railway company spent all Saturday afternoon tearing up the pavement in Franklin street between Lake street and Randolph street. The city of Chicago spent all Sunday putting it back again.

O. F. Fuller, 55 years old, head of the Fuller & Fuller company, wholesale druggists, saw an army of 500 men attack the street with pick and shovel at 2 p. m. Saturday. He asked one of them what they were doing.

"Going to lay a street car track," was the answer. Citizen Starts Investigation. Mr. Fuller called John A. Muldoon, president of the International Motor Transportation company. Mr. Muldoon telephoned to the chief of the police.

"I can't do anything," the chief said. "The street car company has a special permit from Lawrence McGinnis, commissioner of public works."

Mr. Muldoon called the commissioner. "Yes, I issued a permit," the commissioner said. "I did it after consultation with Mayor Harrison, who acted on a special report made to him by the corporation counsel."

THE BATHHOUSE JOHN VOLUNTEERS.

eral, after the manner of a man who recognizes a rather serious duty, created:

"The time is coming when the whole world will be united in the great cause of which I have the honor to be the head. The cause of justice. The path of better things is opening up and the day of retribution for treachery and infamy draws close."

Gen. Carranza said he expected to spend several days in Torreon, probably till the fall of Torreon is decided one way or the other.

POINTS TO REBEL REVERSES.

Chihuahua, Mexico, March 29.—Such news as reached here from the front today was unfavorable to the rebels. Wounded rebel soldiers continued to arrive by train, bringing the number now here to 588. Several hundred others were being provided for at Jimenez and batches of wounded were distributed at Parral and Santa Rosalia. This evidence of the sanguinary conflict at Torreon, with the suggestion that the list of dead on the rebel side necessarily would be great, tended to make headquarters reticent about the progress of the battle.

The officers admitted they have received dispatches from the front, but they declined to reveal the contents.

The report originated from one of the hospitals after more wounded came in that Gen. Villa had been wounded slightly and had been forced to retire from the front. The report was based merely on the word of a wounded soldier, who, however, insisted he had seen Villa wounded. He declared that for moral effect the news was withheld from the rank of the rebel army.

Tells of Gomez Palacio Fight.

A German military observer with the rebels, who arrived today from the front, said: "The Federal soldiers lured us into Gomez Palacio, a suburb to the north of Torreon, before they opened fire. Then they let loose such a hail of rifle and machine gunshots as would have completely demolished an ordinary Mexican army. The men fell by the score."

Then they let loose such a hail of rifle and machine gunshots as would have completely demolished an ordinary Mexican army. The men fell by the score."

Terrazas Near Death Throes.

Despite assurances given by Gov. Chao to the state department of the United States that Luis Terrazas Jr. would not be executed, it was learned today that Terrazas was threatened with execution twice within the last eight days.

He was saved from death within twenty-four hours on one occasion only through the efforts of the representative of a foreign government, who pleaded all one might that the prisoner be given an extension of three days. The three days' extension was granted, and later through another influence the talk of execution was temporarily dropped.

NO NEWS AT MEXICO CITY.

Mexico City, March 29.—With the exception of the somewhat contradictory information contained in the press dispatches and a few items from the Federal command in Gen. Velasco, to the war department, both official and unofficial Mexico were in ignorance today of the results of Villa's efforts to capture Torreon, the occupation of which at this stage of the operations is regarded by military men as essential to the early success of their side.

President Shows No Showing Concern.

But lack of telegraphic communication has prevented Gen. Carranza from entering any but the most minor reports of the operations, and the president and the war minister have found an outlet for their energies by sending forward every available detachment of troops to reinforcements.

Villistas Men 10,000 Troops.

The government today said that Gen. Velasco had under his command from 12,000 to 15,000 men, and, with the reinforcements under Gen. Javier Moore and minor forces reported at other points, these should be facing Villa before he can claim Torreon from 15,000 to 20,000 Villistas.

Four hundred Villistas have been defeated in an engagement north of San Luis Potosi, according to official advice, which adds that traffic to the north of San Luis Potosi has been suspended.

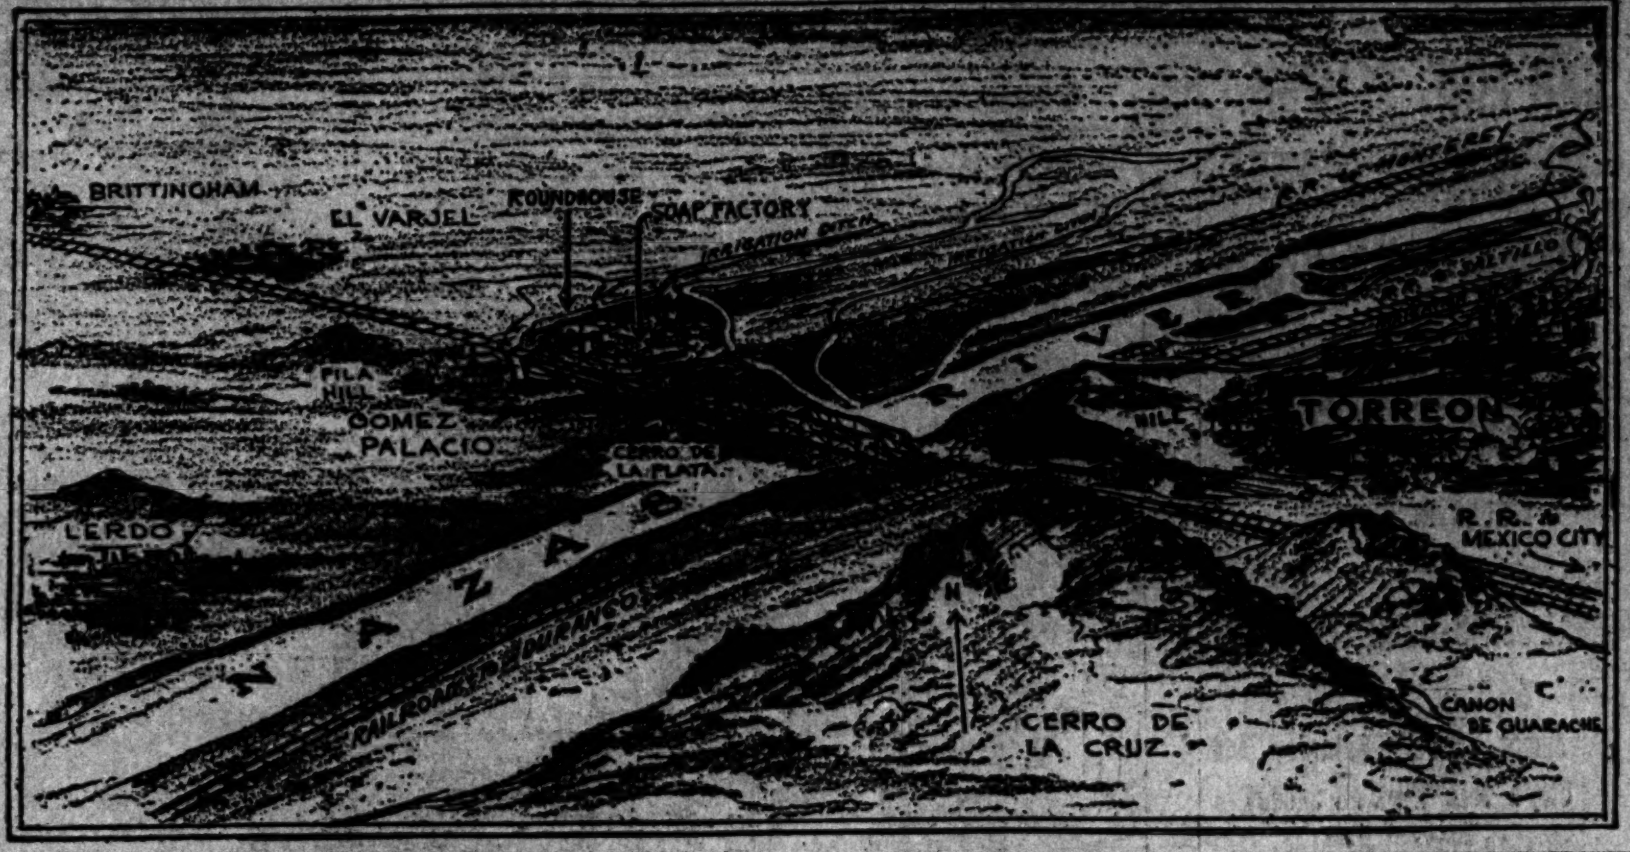

The occupation of Chihuahua, capital of the state of Chihuahua, by the rebels is officially admitted.

Hints at Truce with U. S.

In spite of the denials of the Mexican foreign minister, Señor Portillo y Rojas, and John Lind, that their conference at Vera Cruz had resulted in nothing tangible in the way of repudiating negotiations that might lead to a general truce, Señor Rojas appears to be optimistic, questioning his country's international relations, and his intimate friends seem to be confident that he and President Wilson's representative will yet be able to work out the problem.

President Shows Just Given an Intimation of his intention, but there are many in the capital who still believe he will take the field and leave the presidency temporarily to Señor Rojas and later become a candidate for election.

Mexican Rebel Money—“Accept It or Die.”

A La Salle street banker has received some of the paper currency that circulates for money in northern Mexico. It is issued under authority of the Constitutional regime. The face value, reproduced in the illustration, is for one peso, or dollar. Nominally it is of the value of $1 of American money, but the bill does not in itself contain anything more than the simple announcement on its face that it is of the value of one peso.

However, persons who have dealings in northern Mexico say that it circulates for the value of $1 of American money, and it is said a person refusing to accept it is liable to be shot. Within a limited area this appears to be an effective means of establishing the legal tender value of a circulating medium.

At El Paso there are money brokers who make a business of dealing in Carranza money, and there the flat peso is rated at 30 cents. Americans having business to transact in Mexico buy the Carranza money before crossing the border and use it exclusively on the other side.

The Mexican silver peso, or dollar, has a bullion value of about 48.5 cents, gold.

BOSTON OPERA STARS HURT.

Several Women Faint Also When Crowd Crushes Them Saying Farewell to Decca.

Boston, Mass., March 29.—Several stars of the Boston Opera company were hurt slightly and some of the women fainted when they were caught in a crush of people on a dock today just before the sailing of the steamer Decca.

A crowd of 5,000 had gathered to bid farewell to the singers, who were leaving for Paris.

The police were called to stop the crush and reserves were called from the Charlestown station.

Anonymous Government Must Pay. Funds or North Pole Expedition Will Be Given Up.

[BY CABLE TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CHRISTIANIA, March 29.—Capt. Roald Amundsen announced he will abandon his north pole expedition unless he receives a further grant from the government. He wants altogether $200,000, part of which he is willing to contribute himself.

ORFÈVRE.

MILTON M. CURBORN, a former Chicago newspaper man, died yesterday at his home, 2008 Washington boulevard. Mr. Curborn at one time was on the Chicago Tribune. He was unmarried. Funeral services will be held at Dunham's chapel, 215 West Madison street, on Wednesday.

ICEBERGS NEARLY CRUSH SHIP.

Norwegian Steamer Magdalena Held Prisoner in Midatlantic for Sixteen Hours by Two Floes.

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—Capt. Hansen of the Norwegian steamer Magdalena, which arrived in quarantine today from Fowey, England, with a cargo of china clay, reported that the ship had been nearly crushed by icebergs off the banks of Newfoundland to the north of the Atlantic liner Island. One night the steamer was jammed between two icebergs and remained for sixteen hours in the ice, which threatened to crush its sides.

PARIS, March 29.—Mme. Caillaux has been greatly benefited by her two days' rest in St. Lazare prison, while M. Boucard, the investigating magistrate, has been examining witnesses at the preliminary inquiry into the killing of Gaston Calmette, editor of Figaro. She has regained much of her habitual severity and, it is said, has expressed some strong criticism of the prison arrangements.

Mass of Earth Flots Out Farms and Houses in French Valley—Rumblings Terrify Inhabitants.

BRIVE, France, March 29.—A large section of a mountain has become detached by seismic disturbance and is slowly sliding down the valley, sweeping everything in its path.

Already a number of farms and cottages have been blotted out, and the high roads from Brive and Lantoul have been destroyed for more than half a mile.

Heavy rumblings indicate that the mass is gaining impetus, and the inhabitants are fleeing from their houses. Government engineers are seeking a means to limit the extent of the disaster.

IOWA WOMEN TOLD WORK IN ILLINOIS

Jane Addams Opens Mississippi Valley Suffrage Conference in Des Moines.

MEN CHANGE ATTITUDE.

Chicagoan Says Vote Has Compelled Lawmakers to Listen to Women.

Des Moines, Ia., March 29.—[Special.]—Miss Jane Addams of Chicago was the principal speaker this afternoon at a mass meeting opening the Mississippi Valley Equal Suffrage association's conference. Fifteen hundred persons heard her address on "The Newer Aspects of Equal Suffrage" in a downtown theater. The conference will continue Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Addams was greeted with a round of applause when she rose to tell of what the ballot had enabled Illinois women to do. Chief among the results, she said, was the changed attitude of men toward women. She gave numerous illustrations to show that women had been able to accomplish little in the way of reforms until the ballot was granted them last July.

With women holding power to vote, she said, officials and citizens are compelled to listen to them. It is a weapon which has resulted in many reforms, civic and social, in the few months women in Illinois have had the suffrage.

Tells Work for Waste Disposal.

Miss Addams spoke particularly of the efforts of Mrs. Mary McDowell, long influential, to have the garbage conditions in the stockyards district remedied. In July women were granted the right to vote. A month later the city officials appointed a garbage disposal commission with Miss McDowell at the head.

Mrs. Ella S. Stewart of Chicago spoke on "The Philosophy of Feminism." She said women want the ballot, "not because it represents the power and the crown, but because it opens a door of opportunity through which women may pass to increased civic efficiency."

Miss Addams cheered by men.

When Miss Jane Addams appeared at a meeting this evening, composed largely of men and held in debate municipal ownership of the Des Moines water plant, which will be voted on tomorrow, the audience rose and cheered and waved handkerchiefs for her.

that the front-lace corset is the best form. The trouble has been that the ordinary—and even the most advanced—front-lace corsets have never proved acceptable. But try the new—

"La Camille"

The appeal of this model lies in its adaptability, as it gives the corset style lines to virtually all slender and average figures. Bust is low. Ribs are given support and freedom of back and provide comfort in wear when seated. Made of fine fabric, daintily trimmed. Six hose supporters. Sizes 19 to 28. Price—$5

Other "La Camille" Corsets from $2 to $35

The "La Camille" has every advantage of every other front-lace corset—advantages that others do not possess. This corset has exclusive Ventile back, perfectly rigid Ventile and affording a circulation of air—your back does not get hot and stiff. As all these are rubber-blended. As all these are the maximum of COMFORT.

And STYLE—just try the "La Camille" model that is built especially for you, and see for yourself.

O'DONNELL HELD AS DEROCKSLAYER

Brother, Simon, Accompanies Edward to Police Station, Where He Is Silent.

POLICE SEEK HIM ALL DAY

Gather Witnesses of Fatal Shooting of North Shore Beachcomber and Life Saver.

Mass O'Donnell, a Chicago labor leader, last night telephoned Capt. William Cudmore of Summerdale station and asked him to stay in the station until midnight.

"I'll come, and bring my brother with me," said O'Donnell briefly.

At midnight O'Donnell entered the station. With him was Edward O'Donnell, charged with the slaying of Saturday night of Peter De Rock, the north shore beach life saver and brother of the Lawrence avenue crib, in the Carmen garden at 5100 Broadway.

"Nothing to say," said Edward O'Donnell. He answered the formal questions as to age and address and went to a cell, booked for murder. His face bore no sign of a fight. Neither he nor his brother would tell where he had been since the shooting.

Police Notified One Hour Later.

Notes of the shooting of De Rock were not sent the police until an hour after it had occurred and when De Rock was dying at the Ravenswood hospital. During that hour Edward O'Donnell and his brother, Simon, and other labor leaders had arrived on the scene of the shooting. They conferred with the proprietor of the cafe, Joseph Miller. They also talked in whispered tones to the two bartenders and numbers of other witnesses to the killing.

Capt. Cudmore detailed six detectives to search for O'Donnell. They were Kelly, Allen, McMan, Hinks, Burke, and Ling. They were given instructions to watch the residence of O'Donnell's mother and sister at 5115 Madison street and to seek him elsewhere. It was suspected he was living in an apartment near Wilson avenue and Broadway. He was reported seen in that neighborhood in the afternoon, but no move toward his arrest was made.

Witnesses Tell of Trouble.

None of the witnesses to the shooting except friends of De Rock were taken to the police station. Fagles and James Griffin, who assisted De Rock in his fishing expeditions, and Paul Gromka, a wagon driver, were with the crib keeper when he was shot. They were taken to the station. Questioned by Capt. Cudmore, they told similar stories.

"We went over to the cabon earlier in the afternoon," Fagles said, "and it was there that the trouble started. A socialist who was called the little German was there. De Rock didn't like the way he talked, and after a few words he slipped the socialist's part, but there was no trouble between De Rock and him then."

Shot While on Floor.

"When we came in later and were standing up at the bar, Griffin went to tell the waiter to shut the door," De Rock said. "I was sitting at the bar and just then O'Donnell came in. He was with a friend of his, a man who was called the little German. He came in about every door in the place and came in to the bar. Well, Pete Griffin stood that, so he told the man to 'cut it out.' Pete and O'Donnell clinched, and when they were on the floor O'Donnell pulled the gun and shot De Rock. Then he walks out."

After the shooting, Fagles declared, Griffin kicked De Rock playfully and told him to 'get up,' but the fisherman said he could not get up. De Rock had lain on a bench for several minutes, Fagles ran across the street, where De Rock's fish market was located, and told Thomas Letto, De Rock's partner, what had happened. Letto then telephoned for a taxi and took the wounded man to the hospital.

Labor Leaders Reach Home.

Simon O'Donnell, and Frank Toman, and other labor leaders arrived at the Carmen and within a short time and consulted with the witnesses. Toman was overheard to say, "We'd better get Mike Walsh," referring to Deputy Coroner Walsh. No attempt was made to notify the police.

Joseph Miller, owner of the cafe, telephoned to Capt. Cudmore only after the hospital authorities had sent word to the police. The bartender, Michael Sullivan, a friend of O'Donnell's, turned over to Capt. Cudmore a pair of brass knuckles which he asserted he had taken from De Rock as he lay on the bench. Friends of the beachcomber were unable to say where such weapons.

Pete Described by Wife.

Thomas Letto, associated in the fish market with De Rock, started last fall, told of the beachcomber's troubles with his wife. He said she had left him twice and Peter had not known her whereabouts since last Monday. She appeared yesterday at the Summerdale station.

Letto asserted that after Mrs. De Rock left her husband last Monday De Rock turned half of the store over to Letto. Mrs. De Rock said she would fight his claim.

Letto said Mrs. De Rock formerly was Miss Graham, a singer at the Carmen and was known as "Flo" Collier. It was there that De Rock met her, fell in love with her, and married her, in December, 1929.

Letto said De Rock's aged father was an inmate of the home operated by the Little Sisters of the Poor, and that he had two brothers, Frederick and Vincent, of Portland, Ore.

Mrs. De Rock Hires Lawyer.

Mrs. De Rock refused to comment on her husband's death. She admitted she had been near from home and store, but would make no further statement. She retained Attorney Walter A. Olson to represent her at the coroner's inquest, which will be held this afternoon at undertaking rooms at 2541 Lincoln avenue.

Catch Boy Runaway.

Albert Langworthy, 13 years old, 446 Congress street, Indianapolis, Ind., was taken into custody last night at a short distance from the city from a train from the city in the Pullman street railroad station.

CO-OPERATOR ASSOCIATION HEAD RESIGNS IN A HUFF.

Dr. Axel Gustafson Quits Organization Which He Founded—Resignation Unanimously Accepted.

Dr. Axel Gustafson, psychopath and promoter of societies for the advancement of the well known human rights, walked into a meeting of the Co-operator association at 20 East Jackson boulevard on Saturday and announced his resignation as chairman of the board of directors. He said his cooperation with his fellow co-operators had come to an end.

The resignation was accepted unanimously and without debate. Dr. Gustafson was surprised. He came loaded with a red hot speech on "Cooperators who fail to cooperate."

The speedy action on the resignation was accounted for by members by the fact that the officers feared Gustafson might change his mind.

TAKES BACK WEDDING RING.

Chicagoan Gets Wedding Ring Police to Help Him in Exchange.

A man who said he was R. R. Brady of 2449 Warren avenue jumped from a train at Madison street, yesterday and ran most of the way to the office of Chief of Police Reager.

"My wife's hate with another man," he said. "Can you let me have a policeman?"

Down the street Brady and the policeman, J. A. Crawford, came across a woman and a man giving the name of Tom Mobile. There was a brief altercation and the policeman suggested the quarrel be adjourned to a justice's office. All four entered. Brady demanded his wedding ring, took it, and returned to Crawford, saying he wanted no more to do with the woman.

MAN ENDS LIFE WITH SHOT.

Wife Heaps Abuse and Police Find Dead Body Lying in His Room.

Adolph Leverenz of 3024 Langley avenue shot himself in the right temple yesterday in his locked bedroom and died. His wife, Mrs. Ida Leverenz, was in an adjoining room when she heard the shot. She called the police.

Mrs. Katie Daly of 1248 West Fourteenth place was found in her bed in a serious condition as the result of having swallowed poison. She was found by her two daughters, Bessie and Katie Tobin.

ORDINANCE IS UP TONIGHT AGAINST "FAMILY ENTRANCE"

Ald. Coughlin Expected to Offer to Amend Section Prohibiting Liquor Behind Screens or in Booths.

The ordinance for the regulation of "family" entrances and booths, screens, and curtains in saloons and wineries probably will be called up for passage at the meeting of the city council tonight.

The ordinance is a combination of the one introduced by Ald. Nance for the abolishing of the family entrance and the one fostered by Ald. Freund prohibiting booths.

Ald. Coughlin will probably attempt to amend the Freund provision. In his minority report he contends that the language intended to cover only booths and screens will prevent hotels from serving liquor in more than one room under one license.

If opposition develops, the two provisions probably will be separated. The meeting tonight is probably the last before the election.

PORTY-FIVE ARE ARRESTED; "KEEPERS" FOUND MISSING.

Danenberg Says Resident Proprietors of Disorderly Houses Are Abolished to Have Big Fines.

Eight raids on disorderly houses were made Saturday night and yesterday by Moral Inspector Danenberg. Forty-five men and women were arrested.

Inspector Danenberg discovered a new trick to diminish the amount of fines paid. "We have always asked that the keepers be fined heavily and the inmates lightly," he said. "They have solved the problem by doing away with the keepers. I shall go into court myself in the morning and ask that inmates be fined heavily."

The places he raided were:

"Butch" Carroll's at 648 West Madison street. George McCune's, 1225 West Madison street. Danenberg hotel, 548 North Dearborn street. 8-10 West Twenty-second street. 210 East Fifty-third street. 104 West Twenty-first street (tent raid). Oak hotel, 808 East Twenty-third street. 2400 Wabash at 1241 South State street.

"Some of those places start business again the same night they are raided," he said. "One place we closed at 12 o'clock. It was going again at 2 o'clock."

The uniformed police made one raid at 1500 Austin avenue. Five men and one woman were arrested. Mrs. Della Walsh was booked as keeper.

HUNT FOR ROBBER WITH RED HAIR

Police Seek Man Whose Companion Got $11 at Delicatessen.

ONE VICTIM BEATEN UP.

Saloonkeeper Shot, but Leaps on Assailant and "Arrests" Him.

Holdup men were busy in Chicago late Saturday night and yesterday. There also were several assaults with revolvers.

A man with bright red hair is sought for the robbing of George Pennington's delicatessen at 2947 Grand boulevard. The red haired man's companion—who took $11—bore no distinguishing marks.

Roger Johnson of Indiana Harbor staggered into the Morrison hotel looking for help, his head bleeding and his pocket emptied of $11. Robbed at State and Van Buren.

Charles Gurnick of Springfield, Ill., was robbed of $20 in a crowd at State and Van Buren streets.

W. M. Stanley of 14 East Walnut place was robbed of $5 and a watch near his residence. Two armed men stopped him and another pair took a watch and $2 from Lester Roberts of 2228 Walnut street.

Max Kutchal of 608 South Hermitage avenue was robbed of his watch and beaten by two men who waylaid him just outside his residence.

In the afternoon burglars entered the residence of Mrs. Nellie Palmquist at 511 Gary boulevard and stole jewelry worth $400.

Wounded Man Makes Capture.

With three bullet wounds, Antonio Matlock, a saloonkeeper at 2438 Cicero avenue, leaped on his assailant and, aided by two customers, held him until the police arrived. Matlock collapsed on his way to a hospital and is in a serious condition. The prisoner said he was William Green of 2210 South Dearborn street.

Raphael Tietzo of 1218 Westmarch avenue, Chicago Heights, was shot down in a bakery near his residence and is in Columbus Extension hospital in a serious condition with an abdominal wound. Dominick Zervale of 215 South Halsted street was found cowering in a pile of rags, but said he knew nothing of the shooting. Two men were seen running down the street.

CRISIS ON TOLLS
DUE ON TUESDAYFinal Attack by Clark to Be Followed by Vote on Repeal Bill.

WILSON AIDS CONFIDENT.

Hamilton of Michigan Today
Will Show Treaty Demands Equal Rights.

ten will discharge at the chambers of the existing law. He will show that the treaty specifically forbids any discrimination in charges in favor of American coastwise shipping. Further, he will demonstrate that exemption from payment of tolls constitutes a subsidy to the shipping trust, and finally, he will point out that this subsidy inevitably discriminates against the foreign coast in favor of the coast sections of the country.

Will Cite Panama Treaty.
Mr. Hamilton will show that by article 3 the Hay-Pauncefote treaty plainly provides that "no discrimination is to be made against any nation observing these rules, and no discrimination is to be made against the citizens or subjects" of any nation observing these rules, in respect to the conditions or charges of traffic or otherwise.

Our government, according to Mr. Hamilton, still further bound itself by these rules and estopped itself from denying their binding force by its treaty with Panama in 1903 providing that the canal should be neutral in perpetuity.

The contention that by repealing the exemption law we will place ourselves in the same category with all other belligerents in time of war and leave ourselves no right to protect the canal in time of war, Mr. Hamilton will show, loses sight of the rule of international law, which, in time of war, relegates belligerent nations to their natural right of self-defense. The Hay-Pauncefote treaty was framed in full recognition by all nations of that principle, and Mr. Hamilton will point out that Great Britain is on record as expressly recognizing the principle as governing the treaty.

Two Hay-Pauncefote treaties were negotiated. In the first it was declared "the canal shall be free and open in time of war as in time of peace to the vessels of commerce and war of all nations on terms of entire equality." The words "in time of war as in time of peace" were stricken out of the second treaty for the purpose, according to Mr. Hamilton, "of preserving our right to defend the canal."

Confirming this assertion, Mr. Hamilton will quote John Hay, who in an official statement to the senate said that the omission of these words "would remit both parties to their original and natural right of self-defense and give to the United States the clear right to close the canal against the other belligerent."

Quotes British Foreign Minister.
In further confirmation Congressman Hamilton will quote the note of the secretary of state for foreign affairs of Great Britain to Ambassador Bryce in 1912, in which appeared this statement:

"The British government have recognized in the fullest manner the right of the United States to control the canal and do not question its title to exercise belligerent right for its protection."

The British government does not question our right to protect the canal in time of peace as in time of war. This is shown by the fact that fortifications have been constructed, and that such construction was justified by an understanding between the United States and Great Britain explained by Secretary Hay in the words that when constructed the canal "is to be exclusively the property of the United States and is to be managed, controlled, and protected by it."

The coastwise carrying corporations, Mr. Hamilton will say, "have an absolute monopoly of all the coastwise business, and the farmers of the country, already singled out by the last tariff bill for a special assessment for the supposed benefit of the rest of mankind, will scarcely acquiesce in a policy that would tax them still further to pay a subsidy to an already prosperous monopoly."

Clark Has Optimistic View.
New York, March 29.—Cham Clark, speaker of the house of representatives, spoke in optimistic vein today to a large audience in the Bedford branch of the Young Men's Christian association in Brooklyn. Optimism was the speaker's topic, his discussion covering a wide range of subjects.

Asked to say something about the tolls question before he began to speak, Mr. Clark replied:

"There's been too much said about it already," he said. "I know Congress like a book, and a more honest set of men never congregated."

"It does not take as much sense to be a good president," he said, "as it does to make a good congressman. A president has his cabinet to advise him, while a congressman has got to think for himself."

Views on Monroe Doctrine.
Speaking of the Monroe doctrine, Mr. Clark said that not one of the South American republics would have existed for six months without it.

"The Monroe doctrine is not dead," he asserted, "and my answer to those who say it is, is in the answer of that great president, Cleveland, that we are the sovereigns of this continent and that no foreign nation shall colonize without taking the chance of getting a licking from us."

"There is civil war in the Mexican republic," he went on, "but didn't we have a civil war which destroyed more property and lives than the Mexicans can destroy in forty years? We came out stronger and better, and so will they."

New Automobile Stolen.
Wilson Campbell, secretary of the Barry Taxicab company at 704 Barry avenue, bought a new automobile seven days ago. Yesterday he took it to the home of some friends to have them inspect it and it was stolen.

BANKS PLAN COUP
BY ANNEXATIONBackers Admit They Form on $25,000 Capital in Morgan
Park to Enter Chicago.

VOTE DUE IN TEN DAYS.

Lawyers Deny State Auditor Has Right to Limit Their Activities.

It was admitted yesterday that numerous Chicago private bankers are back of the program for getting state charters for city business without being forced to raise $200,000 capital as provided by the banking law. Counting on the annexation of Morgan Park at the coming election, they have been taking out charters for operating in that suburb, intending, as soon as annexation is completed, to transfer to some other part of Chicago.

Although Morgan Park has a population of only 4,000, four new banks have started business there in fifteen months, and four others have already obtained permits to organize. The state law required only $25,000 capital for banks in communities of that size, and some of the bankers who are willing to be supervised, but unable to raise $200,000, have taken advantage of a promising opportunity.

Banks Organized in Year.
The banks organized since Jan. 1, 1913, together with the directors, are:
MORGAN PARK STATE BANK: directors, T. F. McFarland, M. F. Bransfield, John O'Connor, William J. Chas. Harry J. Geddes, and William Rigney.
CITY STATE BANK: directors, Charles Detrick, George A. Airey, and James E. Battelstein.

ADAMS STATE BANK: directors, Joseph Klucka, John T. Stama, and Norbert F. Kocula.
FIDELITY STATE BANK: directors, Peter Foote, Gerald D. Lane, Joseph K. Mueller, William F. King, and William J. McAllister.

Permits to Organize.
Holders of permits to organize state banks in Morgan Park not yet incorporated are:
METROPOLITAN STATE BANK: Incorporators, Walter B. Mellukas, John B. Brenza, J. A. Gorman, and Claude Dyckman.
PIERCE BANKING AND TRUST COMPANY: Incorporators, Francis Harper, Joseph F. Connerly, and John J. Corbett.

KIMBARK STATE BANK: Incorporators, A. George Mackie, Edwin E. Vald, H. Gilvray, and W. H. Abney.
COMMONWEALTH STATE BANK:

Incorporators, E. Stork Latimer, Modestus R. Bauer, and Frank C. Rathje.

Eager to Obey State Law.

"I am prepared to speak for the commonwealth," Attorney Rathje, one of the incorporators, said, "but I do know that several in this list are private bankers, eager to come under the state law. They are trying to do what the state legislature should have made easier for them to do—submit to supervision and obtain charters, but not to be compelled to furnish such a large amount of capital. They are honest, efficient, reputable men."

One of the fidelity state bank directors admitted "it is rather foolish to think all these banks are organizing for the sake of doing business in a suburb with 4,000 persons." He declined, however, to admit his bank would be moved immediately after election. Peter Foote, the head, is a real estate man on Stony Island avenue.

State Auditor Brady said on Saturday he would not allow the banks to evade the intent of the law and would permit none of them to move downtown. Some of the bankers question his power to prevent them.

Trinamen Give Entertainment.
Three hundred members of branches of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen attended an entertainment given last night at the John Joseph Higgins Smith and Representative John Grunz were among the speakers.

DIDN'T USE ENOUGH PUBLICITY, TAFT SAYS IN REVIEWING TERM.

"Both My Predecessor and My Successor Have Been Far Wiser in This Respect," Ex-President Declares.

Boston, Mass., March 29.—[Special.]—Prof. William Howard Taft today reviewed his first year of private life after many spent in the service of the government.

"My first year as a humble citizen has been a success," he said.

Then recalling his term as president, he said: "I always deferred to public opinion as far as I could conscientiously. I disregarded it only when I thought it was based on ignorance of facts or on insufficient information. In such cases I hoped that time and history would show me to have been right."

"The question of publicity is really an important one with a president and has a great bearing on his peace of mind. I must confess that I was deficient in my duty in this respect. Both my predecessor and my successor have been far wiser in this respect."

"Perhaps my judicial mind is responsible for that. I lost sight of the fact that a thing needs to be iterated and reiterated before it gets home."

Rare Bargains in Fine Furniture Hundreds of Worthy Pieces at Clearance Prices

Last Two Weeks of the Tobey Semi-Annual Sale

EXACTLY twelve days remain in which to take advantage of the wonderful price reductions in this sale. We have had the largest assortment of beautiful furniture we have been able to gather together in years, and notwithstanding the fact that this season's business has been very large, there are still hundreds of fine pieces to be had at from 25% to 60% reduction.

In addition we have taken some beautiful suites and pieces from our regular stock, not previously reduced, and have cut their prices one-third. This reduction has come about through the co-operation of certain manufacturers who found themselves overstocked on these patterns, and made us extra concessions to close them out before the end of our sale. This merchandise is all of the highest quality and in the most desirable designs.

We have also gone over our entire sale display, already at reductions of from 25% to 60%, selecting whatever odds and ends seemed unlikely to move rapidly. On these pieces we have made still greater reductions, so that many of them are now marked at mere fractions of their former prices.

Certainly anyone who needs Furniture, Rugs, Curtains, Wall Papers, Office Furniture or Household Art Objects will make a serious mistake if he buys one dollar's worth elsewhere before looking over our remarkable bargains.

DR. WISE DENIES
SHYLOCK WAS 'JEW'Rabbi Tells Sunday Evening Club Shakspeare Character
Was No Type of His Race.

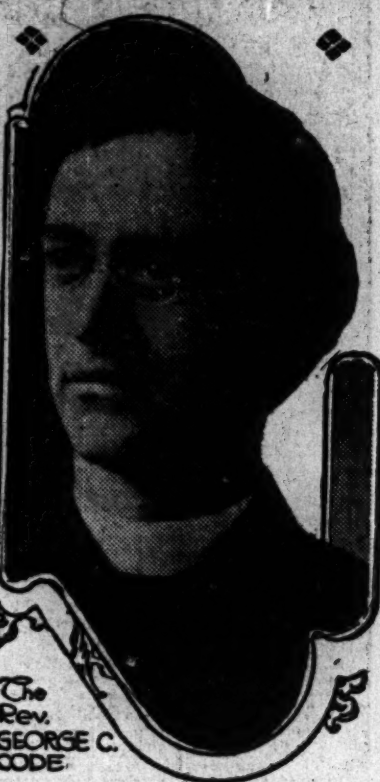

RELIGIOUS TRUCE URGED.

Accepts Love of Divinity and of Neighbor as Common Ground with Christians.

Before the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall last night Dr. Stephen S. Wise, rabbi of the Free synagogue of New York, speaker of the evening, denied that Shylock in Shakspeare's "Merchant of Venice" was a type of the Jew. He defended Bellini and all Jews against the charge of ritual murder. The rabbi called for a truce of a thousand years between Jew and Christian. He referred sarcastically to the Jews in New York who had become Christians. He said the most of them had identified themselves with a Fifth avenue church, known in the language of the streets as "St. Paul's, preferred," because of the source of its income.

Dr. Wise praised Christianity, because it made Judaism known to the nations of the world when it otherwise might have remained obscure. He accepted the statement of Jesus that the two greatest commandments in the world are "Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God, with all thy heart, mind and strength and thy neighbor as thyself," and said these commandments express his creed and are a common ground on which Jews and Christians both can stand.

"Daring to Stand Alone." The subject of Dr. Wise's address was "Daring to Stand Alone." Preceding his address the scriptures were read by Harry A. Wheeler, vice president of the Union Trust bank and president of the United States chamber of commerce. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Edward S. Ames, pastor of the Hyde Park Disciples church. Clifford W. Barnes, president of the club, introduced the speaker as not only a rabbi but the son of a rabbi and the highest type of a Jew. "There is one misunderstanding that I want to clear up," Dr. Wise said. "Contrary to popular notions, the Jew is not vindictive. The misunderstanding has arisen because Christians cannot forget the character of Shylock. It is probable that Shakspeare never saw a Jew, for the Jews were banished from England 300 years before Shakspeare's birth and were not allowed to return until forty years after his death. "The story about Shylock is historically incorrect, for it was founded on a story of which a Venetian Christian was the hero,

Takes the Pulpit
of St. Veronica's.

The Rev. George C. Code took up his duties as pastor of St. Veronica's church yesterday. Father Code has been assistant to his brother, the Rev. John J. Code, pastor of St. Edmund's church at Oak Park. He has been in the priesthood seventeen years. Father Code succeeds the Rev. Thomas M. Burke, who has been transferred to St. Gabriel's parish, left vacant by the death of the Rev. Maurice J. Dorney.

Makes Point by Analogy. "Now, do you think that because this Venetian Christian was described as committing this horrible crime I would be justified in attributing to Christians the character of bloodthirstiness?"

"Dr. Joseph Parker, the great London preacher, exclaimed concerning the Turkish ruler, who has massacred Armenian Christians, 'God damn the sultan of Turkey.' The czar of Russia has committed every crime against Jews that the sultan of Turkey ever committed against Christians, and yet my only prayer would be, 'God move on the heart of the czar of Russia to lead him to do better things. God forgive the czar of Russia for the wrongs that he has done.'"

"The churches cannot come together on creeds, but they can on fundamentals. Christian and Jew alike can stand together as men, as Americans, and as fellow battlers for the right."

CALLS SIN MOTIF
OF GREAT BOOKSDr. Gross Alexander Says Wickedness After Ages Still Is Only World Problem.

'IT IS AS BAD TO BE WEAK'

Minister Tells Garrett Biblical Graduating Class Health Is Not Righteousness.

"It is as bad to be weak as it is to be wicked."

The Rev. Gross Alexander of Nashville, Tenn., editor of the Methodist Quarterly of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, was addressing the graduating class of the Garrett Biblical institute. He preached the baccalaureate sermon yesterday in the First Methodist Episcopal church. Dr. Alexander has been lecturer in church history at the institute.

Gives Reason Why. "The reason why it is as bad to be weak as it is to be wicked," Dr. Alexander explained, "is that if one is weak, he will be sure to become wicked. Moral weakness becomes moral impotency, which can only be remedied by supernatural power."

The sermon marked the fifty-eighth commencement of the institute. There are almost all were present at the service.

The Rev. Charles M. Stuart, president of the Garrett Biblical institute, was in charge. Bishop W. F. McDowell of Evanston made the opening prayer, and the Rev. Thomas Nicholson of New York, secretary of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church, led in the closing prayer. The Rev. J. J. Rapp, instructor in the institute, led a students' love feast in the church chapel at 9 o'clock.

Sin Motif of Literature?

"The monosyllabic 'God' and 'sin' we are in danger of forgetting," Dr. Alexander said. "There is a tendency to substitute an enthusiasm for humanity in place of God."

"Sin is the only problem in the world, for if there were no sin the problem of suffering would cease to exist. Sin is the staple of history, the motif and soul of all great literature from the old testament to George Eliot, Thomas Hardy, and Robert Louis Stevenson."

"The old testament is the record of the sin of the great sinners of that time. Dante is simply taking the lid off from sin and showing its consequences."

Dr. Alexander denied that the common definition of sin was sufficient to describe its nature.

"The common definition of sin, that 'sin is the voluntary transgression of a known law,' is as superficial as it is misleading and plausible," he said. "We sin when we do not want to because of the bondage of habit or of appetite."

Sin a Condition. "Sin is not so much an act as it is a condition, an inward tendency of the nature. Sin is the cause, sin the effect; sin the mother, sin the offspring."

"When we consider that indulgence in sin brings pleasure, while self-restraint and self-denial brings pain, it is easy to see what will happen. To some there is less pain in suffering the punishment of sin than in resisting its temptations. Even God is blamed because he is charged with implanting within us tendencies which lead us in wrong."

The suicide of Harry Thurston Peck of Columbia university, who recently ended his own life, was cited as an evidence that sin was not due to ignorance nor lack of culture.

"Good health is called the remedy for sin," Dr. Alexander said. "Are all healthy persons righteous? To ask is to answer the question."

"The white slave traffic, the saloon business, the grinding of the poor by the rich, have their incentive in the love of money."

Cites Lady Macbeth.

"Lady Macbeth is an example a thousand times repeated of the deceptiveness of sin. Before the murder of the king which marked the beginning of her sorrows she was solely possessed by the dream of the delights of becoming queen of Scotland. When she was undelivered she could only wring her hands in despair of making them again white from the blood with which they had been stained."

"There is but one help for sin. A man is not to blame for falling into a ditch which he may not have foreseen, but he is to blame if he does not take hold of the rope let down to draw him out of the ditch."

WHAT MAY BE LOST.

The opponents of the toll exemption repeal bill have shifted their emotional appeal to another quarter. It now is a loss of sovereignty in the canal strip which disturbs an uneasy patriotism. It is a "loss" to be felt uncertainly, vaguely sensed. Its magnitude can be denied.

How may sovereignty be lost by an act of congress which says in effect that toll exemption was based upon error in interpretation of a treaty, and which makes new rules for the operation of the canal? Sovereignty is not involved. Honor in our foreign relations and equity in our domestic relations are, but not sovereignty. The United States controls the canal, and only its sense of obligation to treaty and obligation to its own citizens can dictate its action.

The supporters of the repeal bill assume that the United States entered into certain treaties with other nations and into certain implied agreements with its own citizens. One was that the canal should be open to all nations without discrimination. Another was that it should not be operated to the disadvantage of a part of the country which built it.

Honor and equity are involved, but not sovereignty. We do not surrender the latter. We maintain the former.

THE FRANK CASE.

Leo M. Frank was convicted of murder in Atlanta when admittedly the public mind was inflamed. Crimes against women had called forth a passionate demand for punishment. Authorities are sensitive to such conditions, and the reaction is not always in the direction of justice. The possibility of a warped, prejudicial law, passions prevail over justice, and a victim is found to whom no guilt is attached.

This is worse than a crime of mob violence. Mobs may be swayed by passion, but not the state. The evidence against Frank is pronounced by fair examiners to be uncertain, if not worthless. Sentiment is changing. The community is not seeking a victim.

A retrial of Leo Frank is needed if the state of Georgia is not to have in the criminal court records the case of a man who went to the gallows although he might have been innocent and who did not have a fair chance to defend himself.

A TEST OF AMERICANISM.

The president of the University of Iowa has resigned because of the intrusion of politics into the management of the institution. "Politicians in Iowa, as in some other commonwealths, do a good deal of talking about the People and the People's rule."

Well, now, what do the People of Iowa propose to do about the resignation of President Bowman? Here is an issue more vital to a state than "railroad domination" or the trust. Do the people of Iowa realize this? If they do not there is something radically wrong with them as a people "worthy of free institutions." If the people do not care or do not know how to defend the people's universities, they deserve what they will most certainly get by reason of the enslavement of these institutions, namely, nothing less than their own enslavement.

Iowa's action upon President Bowman's resignation is a test of Iowa's intelligence and Americanism. There are signs that Illinois may have met this test. Wherefore we are watching events in our neighbor state with special interest. But so will every intelligent American throughout the country, for it is a high test of essential Americanism in a commonwealth proud of its place among the states, of its wealth and inductive prosperity, of its schools and colleges.

If Americanism is dying in such a state it is the worst of omens.

FRESH, FRESH AIR, GOOD FOOD.

Fifteen million dollars annually American consumers pay to be cheated with false hope. It is a heavy tribute, but it means far more than money. It represents in large measure the neglect of the only reliable means of treatment as yet known to science—fresh air, good food.

The victim who depends himself out of a state is likely to rely upon it and meanwhile to neglect rest, to poison himself or himself with vitiated air, to eat badly cooked and unsuitable food. Even where the fake cure is only an empty fraud—is not directly dangerous—is it vicious in this way.

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis is planning a campaign against consumption cures. Its investigations have proved that there is none of these remedies that is a remedy. In this crusade it should be able to count on the press, and it confidently may count on papers which, like THE TRIBUNE, refuse to be accomplices in the defrauding of their patrons and the allies of disease and death through the dissemination of the false claims of the dope vendors.

As to newspapers that advertise fake cures, the association will do well to begin its crusade against them, without whose aid the fake cures would quickly die out. Extending pure drug laws to prohibit these frauds will cost a hard fight, but public opinion is awakening to the need of public protection from this evil, and the fight will win.

THE PEOPLE AND CANAL SUBSIDY. The self-governing ability of the American people is showing strongly in their unanimous refusal to be deceived by the advocates of subsidies for the coastwise shipping trust.

Never have the blandishments of designing politicians fallen on more unresponsive ears.

As the correspondent of the Daily News observes, the only effect of a fight against the repeal of the canal toll bill has been to injure Speaker Clark, Leader Underwood, the handful of Democrats who followed them into the camp of special privilege, the Progressives who progressed backward, and the oldtime Republican standpatters who stood with them.

The American people have remained constant in their opposition to ship subsidies. They have not been hoodwinked by the subterfuge of canal toll remission.

They have understood all the time that the coastwise ships not only needed no government aid to pay their very owners large dividends, but they have understood equally well that a subsidy stimulated increase in the number of coastwise ships would be of no value whatever to the nation.

The strongest argument in favor of ship subsidies is that such subsidies will bring into existence ships to be used as auxiliaries to the navy in war time; will bring into existence Atlantic and Pacific liners, ships with greater speed and greater cruising radius than the scout ships of the navy, and which, equally valuable as the scout ships, will be maintained at a much less cost than such naval vessels; will bring into existence ocean going passenger ships which can be used as troop ships in time of war, and will bring into existence ocean going freighters to carry military supplies and coal to the battle squadrons and armies operating over sea.

The other argument for ship subsidies is that they will build up steamship lines to carry American products direct to foreign ports, and thus help American producers in their competition for the world's markets.

The American public has seen plainly that voting money to the coastwise ship trusts will not tend toward either of these results.

Coastwise vessels are not of a character to be used in time of war. They have not the speed nor the bunker capacity nor the seagoing qualities to make them scout or troop ships, or even coal purveyors.

Our coastwise ships steal along the coast from port to port, running to shelter from ocean storms and replenishing their coal supply at frequent intervals. The same ships and the same class of ships will extend their voyages through the Panama canal. If their number is increased it will merely increase the amount of traffic carried from port to port. It will not create one ship capable of independent action on the high seas.

Subsidies confined to ships in the coastwise trade, as provided in the existing Panama canal toll act, cannot stimulate the building of a single ship for foreign trade.

Every alleged reason for ship subsidies falls to the ground when applied to coastwise shipping.

Special privileges advocates have thought to fool the people by untrue statements concerning the effect of this subsidy act and by an appeal to hatred, supposed, with more or less truth, to exist towards the kingdom of Great Britain.

The plan has failed demoralizingly, and with it its proponents.

The people have seen through the pretenses of the privilege seekers. The loud voices and flushed faces of misrepresentative congressmen have aroused no emotion but disgust.

NOTES FROM OVER SEAS.

PRETENDER SEES FUNDS.—Don Miguel Braganca, Royalist pretender to the Portuguese throne, is busy engaged in raising a fund of a million dollars in France to finance a revolution in Portugal next autumn. Paris reports that he is meeting with some encouragement.

DUSE FOUNDS ARTIST HOME.—Eleonora Duse, the greatest actress in Italy, has contributed $2,000 toward the foundation of an artist's home at Rome. Signora Duse said that Italian actors and actresses in Italy are relegated to a sort of ghetto, and it is high time that they should have a home or club of their own in which to meet and live, with a library, a reading room, a lecture hall, and other comforts. Very likely Signora Duse will give her villa in Rome for the artist's home which she hopes to have inaugurated next May.

THE REAL IRISHMAN.—Canon Hannay lectured in London the other day on the stage Irishman, which is not, he says, a bit like the real thing. Irishmen do not drink with careless bonhomie, with a jest on the lips and laughter in the eye, he said. They do it with a certain shamefaced deliberation, and they do not sing. As a rule a drunken Irishman staggers silently home, and it is only when he is alone that he opens his mouth at all. It is in his talk, his speech about politics or religion, Irishmen do occasionally borrow money, but not with the genial air of conferring a favor on the lender. They do it with groveling servility, declares Canon Hannay.

NAVAL SECRETS STOLEN.—For the third time within a year the British admiralty finds itself obliged to revise its war signal code on account of the theft of a signal book. Almost simultaneously with the commitment at Bow street of the alleged German spies, Frederick Adolphus Gould and Maud Gould, for trial, charged with "having feloniously obtained, for a purpose prejudicial to the state, certain information calculated to be useful to an enemy, and with attempting to communicate such information to another person," came the news that a copy of the most confidential signal code book in the navy service had been stolen from H. M. S. Queen.

BACKACHE.

D. RICHARD CABOT begins his chapter on backache by telling of a conversation with the mistress of a home for tired women. She said: "I hear that you are interested in the blood. Dr. R., the gynecologist, who was our attending man last fall, found that all the women had female trouble. Dr. C., the throat specialist, who attended last summer, found that all of the women had summer and throat trouble, and now I suppose you will find that all of them have blood trouble."

Cabot, in analyzing backache, puts fatigue and tire at the head of the list. Next come neurasthenia, hysteria, and other nervous conditions called psycho-neurosis.

When a person has a persisting backache the chance is very strong that he needs a rest. The next chance is that he needs to have somebody train him to forget his backache.

Backache from pelvic disease Dr. Dercum found so rare that it was scarcely worth mentioning. In a study of 121 cases of backache in women, 85 had entirely normal male organs and 26 had abnormal male organs.

In a group of 181 women complaining of headache and backache, none had any "female trouble."

In another series composed of women with pelvic trouble, 223 did not complain of backache or headache, and 149 did. Among the 223 that did not backache were 9 cases of cancer of the uterus.

Cabot says that backache does not indicate female trouble. In a study of backache, after eliminating the fatigued, the neurasthenic, the hysterical, and the psycho-neurotic, he analyzes 2,451 cases left. He divides ordinary lumbago into three diseases. The sum of these three, ordinarily called lumbago, makes up 1,000.

He says what is called lumbago is a medley of conditions, loosely grouped together. One hundred and ninety were cases of kidney stone, kidney tumor, and kidney abscess, but not a single case of Bright's disease in the list.

Among the striking statements by Cabot is this: "After three weeks of pain we must find some other cause than lumbago." In the case that Cabot was writing about, X-ray examination showed that the lumbago, so-called, was a rheumatism of the joints of the back, the rheumatic growth pressing on the nerves.

A large part, in fact the largest part, of the group called lumbago was the group of sacro-lumbar disease. This term means some condition where the hip bones join the backbone. A condition frequently found in strain; another one is sprain. These are the "aches" and "cricks," or most of them.

Disease of the spinal column was responsible for 78 of the cases in Cabot's list. Of these, 72 were cases of tuberculosis of the spine. Cabot especially emphasizes the fact that pain in the tip of the spine means either fatigue or some such mental disturbance as neurasthenia, or hysteria.

DON'T TAMPER WITH MOLES.

M. S. writes: "I am a girl of 18 and my face is disfigured by a mole. I have heard of the danger of tampering with moles, and my arms also are covered with them. Those on my face are large, and I am often embarrassed when in company. Can you give me some remedy by which I can rid myself of these moles? Will the application of nitric acid remove them? I have heard the only mole remover is the electric needle, but I feel I cannot afford to have this used, because there are so many moles."

Do not tamper with moles. Do not apply nitric acid or any other paste to them. Do not let any one except an exceedingly well trained person treat a mole with an electric needle. The best treatment for moles seems to be radium, but do not try that until something more is known about it.

OPERATION SUFFER METHOD.

C. T. S. writes: "Can hernia trusses, single or double, be cured with ruptures or jection, as alleged? How is the layman to determine whether or not he will be bunked?"

REPLY. A hernia is a protrusion of the abdominal contents through a weak spot in the abdominal wall. It is not a disease, but a condition. It is not cured by injection, but by operation.

CAUSES OF DIABETES.

P. J. writes: "What causes diabetes? A woman previously in the best of health and with promises of long life is suddenly confronted with the fact that she is a diabetic. Are apples, when quartered and hung for twelve hours over burning sulphur, wholesome? What causes occasional sudden pain just under the ribs and breastbone? Are turpentine and lard when locally applied good to loosen and relieve a tight cough?"

REPLY. In diabetes there is sugar in the urine, because the sugar in the blood is not being used by the body. The sugar in the blood is the result of the food being eaten, and the sugar in the urine is the result of the body not being able to use the sugar in the blood.

The liver feeds it to the blood as fast as the tissue need it. Influencing the liver in its sugar changing and sugar storing are the following organs: the pancreas, the suprarenal glands, the thyroid, and a certain area in the brain. So long as the amount of sugar burned by the tissues and the liver function are in balance, there is no diabetes. When these get out of balance there is diabetes. There are three causes of diabetes: (1) excessive amounts of sugar and starch eaten, (2) too little use of sugar by the tissues (3) disease of the liver, (4) disease of the pancreas, (5) disease of the suprarenal glands, (6) disease of the thyroid, (7) disease of the brain. The most frequent of these are 1, 2, 3, and 4.

REPLY. 1. In diabetes there is sugar in the urine, because the sugar in the blood is not being used by the body. The sugar in the blood is the result of the food being eaten, and the sugar in the urine is the result of the body not being able to use the sugar in the blood.

LEWIS BACKS UP ON CAMPAIGN CRY

Excoriated McDermott and Lee O'Neill Browne Kind;
Now He Supports Them.

NO DISCUSSION OF NOTE.

House Committee Reserves Comment on Lobby Scandal Letter Until Later.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—
Senator Lewis' extraordinary letter advising the house of representatives, although he is not a member of that body, not to punish Congressman McDermott, the Chicago stockyards member, for his part in the lobby scandal, will be read to the members of the judiciary committee next Tuesday.

The letter, which was addressed to the judiciary committee of the house, now considering the McDermott case, was received subsequent to the last meeting of that body
and none of the members has read it.

Members of the committee who could be reached today expressed surprise that a letter of the character described had been addressed to the house by any senator, but declined to discuss it for publication before examining it.

Does Not Need Senate's Assistance.
The house has taken occasion to indicate that it feels itself capable of investigating the lobby scandal and of punishing the culprits without the assistance of the senate. It refused to accede to a joint investigation of the Mutual disclosures, and conducted an independent inquiry. The judiciary committee has maintained the judicial attitude in passing upon the charges against McDermott, and its members have shown their resentment of outside interference in their deliberations upon the verdict they will render.

Senator Lewis' campaign exhortations of the officials involved in the Lorimer scandal and of their recency to public trust generally are regarded as scarcely surprising with his defense of McDermott, who has been condemned by two committees of the house as guilty of grave improprieties of official conduct.

Lewis Friendly to Browne.
In connection with the campaign utterances of Mr. Lewis on the Lorimer scandal it also is interesting to note that the senator is trying to obtain patronage for Lee O'Neill
Browne of "music and flowers" fame.

He has recommended the appointment of several postmasters endorsed by Browne.
Protests against such appointments were telegraphed to Senator Kern of Indiana, a member of the second Lorimer investigating committee.

Mr. Kern is prepared to prevent the confirmation of appointments sought by Browne on the ground that the administration would guiltily itself in recognizing the claims of any Democrat who voted for Lorimer.

Senator Lewis has been pleading daily with Senator Kern to lift the embargo on Browne's postmasters. He has argued that he needs
the continued support of Browne.

PETRAS ADMITS OLD ARREST.
Declares Trouble in Austria Was Proved Not His Fault and He Was Acquitted.

Austria, Ill., March 29.—[Special.]— Anthony Petras, awaiting grand jury action on a charge of the murder of Theresa Hollander in St. Nicholas cemetery several weeks ago, admitted today he had been arrested in Austria for taking two girls across a state line to a disorderly house. He asserted, however,
he was a chauffeur and did it at their direction; not knowing what the address was, and adds although he was held two weeks for trial he was acquitted. The police chief was told by the Vienna police Petras had been convicted.

BAD MILK SOLD IN ILLINOIS

Heavy Fines for Exporting Lead to Selling Product at Home.

TWENTY-THREE FIRMS HIT.

Shipments to St. Louis Bring Penalties in Federal Courts.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—
The federal government's prosecution of the producers of dirty, watered, and otherwise adulterated milk in Illinois has resulted in the finding of twenty-three dairymen $100 and costs each. These are the heaviest fines ever imposed upon dairymen for violation of the federal food law.

The dairymen prosecuted were shipping milk from Illinois to the St. Louis market, which not brought them within the jurisdiction of the federal law. Other dairymen whose milk was quite as impure could not be reached because they were not shipping their product across the state line.

The result of the activity of the government has been to improve the quality of milk shipped out of the state, while Illinois communities, in which the state law and municipal ordinances are not enforced, consumed
the impure fluid.

The department also announced the results of the following prosecutions involving Chicago dairymen:

Duquesne Chemical company consented to a decree of forfeiture of twenty dozen bottles of adulterated and misbranded peroxide of hydrogen, which was destroyed by the United States marshal.

Jewel Tea company consented to a decree of forfeiture of a consignment of misbranded pepper, found short of the labeled weight, but was allowed to retain the product under $2,000 bond to obey the law.

Hudson Manufacturing company forfeited a shipment of adulterated and misbranded vanilla extract, but was allowed to retain the product under $500 bond to obey the law.
McLaren Imperial Cheese company forfeited a shipment of imitation Roquefort cheese held to be misbranded.

FIRE ON ROCKEFELLER ESTATE.

John D. Rockefeller's fire hoodoo is still following him, for at midnight the large dairy at the lower place owned by him was destroyed by fire. The firemen say that the building was set on fire.

CALLS LEON FRANK POLICE VICTIM

Attorney Haas Calls Conviction Result of Blind Prejudice.

"OUTRAGE TO ATLANTA."

Says He Will Show Crooked Work
by Authorities if Given New Trial.

Herbert J. Haas, one of the attorneys for Leon Frank, who is sentenced to death for the murder of Mary Phagan, a factory girl
in Atlanta, Ga., came to Chicago yesterday.
He will confer with Detective William J.
Burns, who is expected to arrive from New York today.

Mr. Haas gave out a long interview on the case, which has attracted nation-wide attention, and declared Frank was convicted because of "blind prejudice." The attorney stated Frank was the victim of a "frameup"
by the police of Atlanta and the prosecuting attorney.

"The conviction of Leon Frank is a disgraceful outrage to Atlanta," he said. "He did not have a fair trial, and every honest and respectable citizen of Georgia deplors
the travesty on justice."

In opinion he had a fair trial he would have been acquitted, but that is not the question. Leon Frank is entitled to another hearing, and if this is granted by the Supreme court we will startle not only Atlanta but the whole country with proof of crooked work and malice on the part of the authorities.

Holds Out Facts.

"Hugh M. Dorsey, the prosecuting attorney, deliberately held out important facts that would have freed Frank, and he kept important witnesses from testifying. He made deliberate misstatements and devoted his efforts to insinuating the citizens of Atlanta against Frank."

"They have in custody of these worthless loafers—the courtroom, and they were not rebuked for demonstrations and hisses against the accused man."
"They wanted to see a prominent man convicted. They wanted sensationalism, and these desires would be gratified if Leon Frank was convicted. The jury realized this. The jury knew what the mob element wanted."
"It took more than four weeks to hear the case, and it took the jury less than forty-five minutes to arrive at a verdict."
The men on the jury did not bring in a verdict according to the evidence, but they gave the mob element what it demanded—the conviction of Leon Frank.

"We have indisputable proof that the strands of hair in the factory were not from the head of the slain girl, yet the prosecuting attorney deliberately concealed this important fact. These strands were given to the state health officer to examine by the prosecuting attorney. The health officer compared them to hair taken from the dead girl's head. Then he reported to the prosecuting attorney that the hair which he had been asked to examine was different in color, texture, and in every detail, from that of the girl."

Hair Examined by Expert.
"Instead of making this fact known, the prosecuting attorney deliberately represented to the jury that the hair was that of the girl. Of course this fact was not learned by us until after the trial. We did not know the hair had been examined by an expert, and the prosecuting attorney was cunning enough not to mention it."

"His motive in securing the conviction of Frank can be guessed. Until this case he was not popular with the prejudiced element, because during the last year he has failed miserably in the prosecution of several important cases. It was up to the prosecuting attorney to convict Frank or lose what little prestige he had."

Unless a new trial is granted, Frank will be hanged on April 17.

PASTORS STRIVE TO SAVE TRINITY

Jewish and Catholic Preachers Alike Speak Words of Encouragement to Church.

EXAMPLE OF ST. PETER'S.

Father Dunne Tells of Work Done in Parish with Hardly a Resident Parishioner.

The fate of Trinity church has stirred ministers of every denomination in the city.
Yesterday Father Dunne of St. James'
Catholic church, and Dr. E. G. Hirsch of Sinal temple made it the theme of their talks.
Father Dunne said Trinity's plight typifies
the danger which threatens all city churches.
There have been many churches abandoned
to make place for business houses in Chicago, he said, but he pointed out "grimy, old St. Peter's in the railroad district at Clark and Harrison streets," where six priests are busy day and night.

Parish Without Parishioners.
St. Peter's has no resident families, he said, but is crowded daily with all sorts of people.

"The bishop would never willingly give up St. Peter's," he said, "as he regards it as one of his best means of good work. I am convinced that without regard to creed
the downtown churches, all that practice Christianity, should be preserved where they are placed. Trinity should stand forever where it is now."

Compares It to Sinal.
Dr. Hirsch said that Trinity's plans are the same as he had for the old Sinal temple at Indiana avenue and East Twentieth street.

The Rev. John M. McGinn, rector of Trinity, announced that the first two days of returns from the letters sent throughout the city were encouraging. They brought subscriptions of $2,320 a year to the three-year maintenance provision, a check for $2,000 for the permanent endowment fund, and several cash contributions.

Young New Jersey Writer in City for First Time.

ONE of the most interesting of the young women visitors who have come to Chicago recently is Miss Leona Dalrymple, the young New Jersey writer who is attending the recent $10,000 prize in the novel contest conducted by Kelly & Britton, the Chicago publishing firm. Miss Dalrymple has been in the city since Thursday and has been attending events arranged in her honor and in visiting the shops and institutions of interest since this is her first visit to Chicago.

Miss Dalrymple is so unassuming in manner and so unaffected by her recent success that no one would suspect her of having been the center of attention in the literary world for the last few weeks. Her chief interest in the winning of the prize apparently is not the small fortune it has brought her, but the fact that it has assisted her in running up the path to success and recognition, over which she had expected to walk.

Miss Dalrymple is not yet 20, and just how she happened to write the romantic tale which won her this recognition is quite as interesting in its way as the story of the prize winning itself.

"I had a friend," she explains, "who wrote a play—or started to do so—and who had finished it he had the characters so hopelessly involved that he was forced to abandon it. 'If he can't write a play, why can't I?' I questioned myself one day and at last I did a two act sketch, took it to one of the publishing houses getting out these smaller skits, and the publisher bought it. Once you know your name in print and you are left, you know the bug has bitten! There is nothing left to do but to go on! I went on."

"For some reason I missed seeing the offer of the $10,000 contest until some six weeks before the contest closed. This was right in the heat of the summer, but a story had been running in my mind for some weeks. It had its genesis in a clipping from a newspaper wherein was told of a young and adventurous English couple who nearly broke away from the conventions of society life and having staid up a wretched wagon went forth to roam the country. Of course, she met with many wonderful experiences. They made the year's tramp worth while."

"I just imagined what could happen to a well bred girl who set out on the open road, and I found in America, and in six weeks the $10,000 words which make up 'Diane of the Green Yew' were written and handed out to Chicago. As soon as the novel was out of my hands I dismissed it from my mind, and I really was very much surprised when I was notified that I had won the prize. It has spurred me on to greater effort as nothing else could have done, for, of course, no mental tonic equals a bit of success."

One interesting bit of information which Miss Dalrymple does not tell is that in the final clearing out of the novels submitted only ten remained to be sent to the last jury of decision. All of these novels, of course, went anonymously. When the choice was made and the ten envelopes bearing the ten names of the authors were opened, it was found that two of the novels were written by Miss Dalrymple.

Miss Dalrymple is to give a luncheon today at the South Shore country club in honor of Miss Dalrymple and later in the evening is to speak before the Bryn Mawr Women's club.

Col. and Mrs. Nathan William MacChesney have returned from Florida after a brief visit at Belleair and Seaside.

PRINTERS PLAN MEMORIAL WINDOW FOR H. O. SHEPARD.

Chicago Typographical Union Makes First Appropriation to Commemorate the Birth of Late Publisher.

The committee of the Old Time Printers' association having in charge the placing of a memorial window for the late Henry O. Shepard in the public school building named in his honor, now nearly completed, in South Francisco avenue at Fillmore street, has practically decided in favor of a design by Thomas A. O'Shaughnessy of Chicago.

The first appropriation for the window, the cost of which is to be shared by several organizations in the printing and publishing line, was made by unanimous vote of Chicago Typographical union, No. 16, yesterday at a meeting attended by more than 1,000 of its members.

In addition to the Old Time Printers' association and the Typographical union, the Press Club of Chicago, the Chicago Employing Printers' association, the Trade Press association, and the Ben Franklin and Machine Composition club will be asked to join in honoring the dead publisher.

The date under consideration for unveiling the memorial is Saturday, May 23, the anniversary of Mr. Shepard's death. The committee of Mr. Shepard's friends, headed by Col. M. H. McGowan, of the literary staff of the Regan publishing house, John McGowan is general chairman of the Old Time Printers' committee, James L. Regan is treasurer, and William Mill secretary.

Hunt Missing Heir to Fortune.

Kean, Pa., March 29.—A fortune of $250,000 awaits Keith Dalrymple, the young son of the late Mr. Dalrymple, who disappeared from home seven years ago. Relatives have started a country-wide search for the young man. The fortune was left him by his father, an oil operator, who died recently.

Two Churches Install New Organs.

The installation of pipe organs in two Chicago churches was made the occasion of special services yesterday.

At the First Congregational church, Oak Park, the Rev. William E. Barton, the pastor, preached a sermon on "The Uses of Music" in connection with the service of the dedication of the organ, which Dr. Barton said, contained 240 more stops than does the famous organ in the Mormon temple at Salt Lake City, Utah.

J. Fred Butler, chairman of the music committee, presented the organ to the church, and Charles W. Sigler, chairman of the building committee, accepted the organ in behalf of the church.

The installation of the new organ is only a part of the improvements of the church building, which include the enlargement and decoration of the building and the erection of a parish house. The total expense of the improvements is $100,000. The parish house will be dedicated in the near future.

The new organ in the Kenwood Evangelical church, Greenwood avenue and Forty-sixth street, was played for the first time yesterday morning.

The chimes and echo organ will be in place next Sunday, and a recital will be given on Sunday evening, April 12. The organ cost $14,000. The Rev. Albert J. McCartney, the pastor, said, and has few equals in the country. Palmer Christian, organist of the Kenwood church, played yesterday.

Miss Lucie Blair, the attractive younger daughter of the Edward T. Blair, has gone to the east to visit, right in the midst of the planning for the annual entertainment of the Junior League, to be given on April 15 in Orchestra hall, and so say those who should know, there is some doubt about Miss Blair's returning in time for the entertainment. Miss Blair, who is one of the few talented daughters of the wealthy, who combines with talent a manner of exceptional charm, an unusual mentality and a beauty over which artists rave (it hardly seems fair of the gods to give such a many of their gifts to one small person) is the organizer of the league, and always has been the moving spirit in its entertainment.

But when these same gods have been so lavish, it is not a matter of wonder that a small imp of mischief should make his appearance. In the division of the old songs, so it is told, Miss Blair was given a bit of a few years ago which threatened to make her the star of the evening. Many others of the attractive young women of the league coveted that song. Do you wonder? But, so the story continues, such was the distress caused thereby, and such the remarks and references, etc., etc., that Miss Blair quietly withdrew from the side-of-the-stage.

Her friends hope she will return in time for the entertainment. Maybe they will persuade her to do so, but at present she is in the east, with rehearsals going on and the date of the event fast approaching.

The approaching marriage is announced of Miss Florence Whiting Thayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel C. Thayer of 4119 Woodlawn avenue to Lee Dodge Parkington of Fort Worth, Tex. The wedding will take place on April 4 in the residence of the bride's father.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Matthews and son, George Sherwood, of 7711 Lake avenue, who have spent the last few months motoring through California, have settled in Los Angeles at 1287 West Third street, where they have taken an apartment for the month of April. They will not be coming to the city as they had anticipated earlier in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. McVane of 112 Belmont place who have been spending the winter in California, are back in town, but will leave in a few days for Hot Springs, Va., where they will be joined by their son, John, who is attending Cornell university.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Andrew Cobb of River Forest announce the engagement of their daughter, Stella, to Dr. Frank S. van Wormer of Alton, Ill.

Joy C. Bourne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Bourne, of 1214 Highland park, and Dr. H. P. Forth, of 1214 Highland park, who have been spending the spring holidays with their parents, have returned to the Toms school, Fort Deposit, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Haugen have returned to the city after having spent several weeks in Florida.

Chicago Jews Pledged to Help Uplift Race.

"THE Jewish people are gauged by the standard of 37,000,000. In the Jewish view is so fundamentally wrong that it almost is an outrage. Jew has not come into the world to be a parasite. He has come to work. He has come to strive, from the time this gathering ends, for the betterment of his race."

These were the assertions and the plan of Rabbi Abraham Hirschberg yesterday afternoon. He was the principal speaker before the district grand jury, Independent Order of the Free Sons of Israel, at a meeting of the Hotel Sherman. The ballroom was crowded that day. The speakers were Dr. Hirschberg, a rising rabbi, each was an address in one of the subordinate lodges of Chicago and its suburbs. They numbered nearly 10,000. Their action inaugurated what is planned to make the most aggressive movement for uplift ever attempted by the members of their race. At the next meeting of each of the subordinate lodges the call will be repeated.

"Though the Jewish people enjoy today higher prestige and more liberty than ever before," Dr. Hirschberg continued, "still they are victims of prejudice which must be overcome. Education, organizations, cooperation, and falling individual vigilance! These are the rules for our daily life. These are the things which should raise our standing in public and in private life."

Other speakers were Attorney Maurice A. Weinberg and Attorney Louis Grooman. Attorney Grooman, who acted as chairman, set forth the purposes of the organization, being for everything which was conducive to a high plane of citizenship, a higher type of law abiding, high minded manhood.

A vaudeville entertainment of three numbers closed the program. Members of the subordinate lodge, the Grand Master, Sol Kahn, District Representative I. A. Weinberg and Executive Committee members Maurice A. Weinberg and I. A. Lurie.

Dr. Wishart to Speak at Y. M. C. A.

The Rev. Charles F. Wishart, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, will give the lecture today noon at the Young Men's Christian association auditorium, 10 South La Salle street.

Pietism, health instruction, legal advice, world-famous cartoons, fashion notes, society doings, leading articles by noted writers, special features by the dozen—these, together with the news of the entire world in the Sunday Tribune, provide more reading matter than the average person can go through on Sunday. And because these things are all of vital importance to those who want to get to the top, the Sunday Tribune is saved in thousands of homes for reading during the week.

The Sunday Tribune is a great weekly magazine as well as "The World's Greatest Newspaper."

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & Co.

SEVERAL floors of this store for the past few days have been practically transformed into galleries of new modes and of arts in fabrics.

It has been our endeavor to show Spring fashions as they are—fancies which can be accepted—modes and fabrics which are genuinely new and consistent with their purpose—nothing bizarre or overdone to provoke curiosity or comment.

If our efforts have met with your approval it is simply because, like the artist who had his pictures accepted, we remembered that simplicity is in accord with the infinite and consistency is a jewel.

Getting Boys Ready for Easter? Suits $10

Easter—Confirmations—and then graduations with the valentines! What a lot of preparations to be made! First of all the "young hopefuls" need that Sunday suit—of blue serge.

We have put as much sturdy worth into these at $10 as expert selecting and testing of the blue serge and the careful cutting and tailoring can accomplish.

Some with plain jackets—others with patch pockets—some yoke Norfolk alpaca lined—suits 10 to 13 years and the best value in a boy's suit we've seen for a long time at $10.

Other blue serge suits for boys, priced $6 to $15.

New styles in Oliver Twist Suits at $2.50.

Of washable galatea cloth in plain white and white waists with cadet or navy pants—as well as stripes of navy, cadet and brown, with plain brown, cadet, navy pants. Finished with pearl buttons, silk lacing at front. Trimmed sailor collars and cuffs—suits 3 to 7 years—at $2.50.

Second Floor, South Room.

Special Easter Arrivals—In Women's Frocks and Suits

Featuring in Frocks the new

Wide Girdles
Organdie Vests
Gingham Stripes
Taffetas
Chinese Printings in Crepes
Chiffon Combinations
with Radium
Silk Quillings
Shirred Shirt Fronts

It seems incredible that new ideas—individual new touches—should blossom forth in such profusion. But individuality is the cry this spring. And here is individuality well worth while—real originality, without any hint of the "extreme" or straining for effect.

Frocks of silk and chiffon; and frocks in other silk combinations or plain. Priced to denote excellent values. $45 to $87.50.

Gowns for evening wear and for dancing are priced from $20 to $175. Illustrated is a frock of the new Checked Radium Silk, with drapings of chiffon. It may be had in several spring colors. Price $45.

And Still Come New Spring Suits of Much Charm and Real Individuality

Silk Suits—including so many new and clever things that one can scarcely decide which is prettier.

There's a very smart combination, for instance—skirt of plain taffeta, with a very short ruffled jacket and a wide girdle of Poiret-colored silk. In a number of color combinations, $50.

Another suit is of silk faille, with collar and vest of silk Romaine, $75.

Special attention is directed to the variety of checked suits assembled here. There are broken and two-tone checks; shepherd checks; big checks; small checks; bar checks. Trimmings are of moire, taffeta, novelty or contrasting color silks, $25 to $87.50.

Fourth Floor, North Room.

Foot Prints of the New Boot Fashions

SHORT Frocks mean fine foot-prints. To meet the new demand we have had designed to our order such exquisite novelties as will please the woman who wants perfection in the details of her dress.

Boots With Figured Silk Tops at $10 Pair

Or with tops of matelasse, as your fancy prefers—very handsome boots with patent vamps, enameled heels, scalloped button laces and a certain graceful swing to the cut.

New Pumps and Colonials at $7 a Pair

The carefully chosen kind—of a fitness to wear with your prettiest Easter costume. Patent and grey back combinations are particularly attractive.

Third Floor, South Room.

The newest Paris fancy in fruit trimmings for hats is the blossom and the fruit on the same twig. Cherry blossom and cherry, 65c. Lemon blossom and lemon, $1.10. Strawberry and blossom, $1.10. Very large strawberry, $1.45. Fifth Floor, South Room.

Never Was an Easter Season More Rich in Millinery Variety.

And never have we been more fortunate than this year in presenting each new mode here almost simultaneously with its appearance in Paris or London.

It is quite the natural thing, therefore, that now, when all Paris is a-flutter with the new street chapeaux, we should announce a little special exhibit of Trotteur Hats After the French Mode.

These hats will be exhibited in the French Room and will include the new

Bustle Back Tricorn French Sailor

Prices will be $15 to $35.

Fifth Floor, South Room.

Beaded Tunics in a Remarkable Sale—$5

We say remarkable, because these tunics represent many of the newest ideas in beaded effects, and because they lend themselves so admirably to the new "transparent" mode of dress.

Many styles are to be found in the collection—every tunic is imported—there are handsome black, plain black, plain white; also many in beautiful color combinations. As well as a host of other gorgeous things too numerous to mention. Particularly worthy of note are the

Shirred Tunics

Beaded Coats

Jet Tunics

And they are selling for about one-third the price usually asked—now $5.

First Floor, North Room.

Many Becoming and Original Full Frilled Sleeves and Webbed Bodices Are

Noted Among the Newest Blouses

They are exquisite things of filmy chiffon, net and lace—these blouses, and they are the very latest cry of fashion.

One delightful affair of creamy lace over flesh chiffon has sleeve binding of white moire ribbon outlined in black, $7.50.

Another blouse of black net over white is worked in a design in pastel colors under the black, $16.50.

Leather color net over white, with black net and emerald ribbon make the third Parisian-like blouse, $12.50.

Fourth Floor, North Room.

Most Desired Spring Novelties in Imported Cotton Dress Fabrics At Unusual Price Reductions

Emphasis may be placed upon the wide variety offered at this one price—and there is a quantity of each color and pattern sufficient to assure plentiful assortments of every effect.

Bouffante Novelty Crepe Flamme

Check Plaid and Striped Ratine

And Other Two-Toned Novelties

All 40 to 45 Inches Wide

The colorings offer a wide range for selection. Black and white included, and many of the patterns have been confined to Carson Pirie Scott & Company. Former prices were about double.

WONDER AT YANKEES' APATHY

All Leading Powers Surpass U. S. in

NATIVES WON, ALWAYS FRIENDLY

BY DONALD T. FROTHINGHAM.
(Special Correspondent of the Tribune.)
CAIRO, Egypt, March 29.—Seven to one against the United States. Final score, Foreign Trade Series, 1913, Egypt versus United States.More than 14,000,000 good American dollars went to Egypt this last year to buy Egyptian cotton. Two and a half million dollars came back in payment for American goods. Mathematically speaking, the great American dollar traded like 15 cents when the trade balance for 1913 was struck between Egypt and the United States. Seven to one indicates how low the American trade in Egypt stands in its dealings with the richest market in the east. Meanwhile, other wider trade nations are getting that Egyptian trade—getting it so well that Uncle Sam ranks down in about eighth place in the list of countries supplying Egypt's demand for materials and manufactures.American exports to Egypt have increased by 10 per cent this last year, at that. The cotton report shows that Egypt paid $2,000,000 for American goods in 1913. The actual value of imports from America is somewhat greater than that figure, because cotton import records concern only the country from which orders are filled, regardless of where the goods are manufactured. Quantities of American goods have been reshipped to Egypt from England and Germany, but credited by the customs report to the countries from which they were consigned—therefore, the heavily underrated trade total credited to the United States by customs statistics.Dependent Altogether on Outside.
Even taking that into consideration, the amount of American goods sold in Egypt is not enough to attract real attention in the wide world market that Egypt offers, for the United States is not alone in supplying the Egyptian market. France, Germany, and Turkey, but even Italy, Sweden, and little Belgium.
This condition, so uncomplimentary to American manufacturers, exists in a country which is dependent on outside nations for supplies and manufactures, and which, without any restriction in trade policy and without a tariff wall a veritable free for all market that cries for the wares it must obtain from outside sources.Egypt's commercial policy dates back no more than thirty years, to the time when the country was so demoralized by marauders that the great foreign loans were imperiled. Under the Khedive Ismail, affairs reached a crisis. Turkey, the guardian power, had lost control of Egypt, and British and French investors were panic-stricken.The task for drastic action was met by England whose army of occupation restored order and order in 1882. That army of occupation is Egypt in this very day, a standing army of government and business states.

PARLOR POLITICS
LIVENS CAMPAIGNMeetings for Women in Homes Something New to Candidates.

PLANS FOR FINAL WEEK.

Battle lines were drawn yesterday in ward conferences in preparation for the final week of the aldermanic campaign. All candidates have scheduled meetings which will keep them busy until April 1.
Afternoons have been set aside for eleven hours efforts to make favorable impressions on the new women voters, while the evenings will be devoted to lining up the men. Numerous parlor gatherings—an innovation in local politics—are among the affairs intended to interest the women.Each ward presents a spirited contest. In some wards, notably the First, Second,
Third, Sixth, Seventh, Seventeenth,
Twenty-third, Twenty-seventh, Twenty-ninth, Thirty-first, and Thirty-second, the contests are of more than sectional interest.Women active in the suffrage cause are particularly concerned over the fight in the First and Seventeenth wards because of the prominence of the women there who seek to overthrow the old order. In the First Miss Marion H. Drake is making a strenuous fight against "Bathhouse John" Coughlin, while in the Seventeenth Miss Margaret Wilson is causing uneasiness to the men opposing her.The Chicago Law and Order league has come to the aid of Miss Drake in the hope of clearing the registration lists of "floaters." In a report to County Judge O'Connell the charges are made that in many precincts
the registration books do not tally, and the court is urged to order a thorough revision before election day.F Women Hold Balance of Power.
In all the wards uncertainty of what the women will do is worrying veteran politicians. The realization that only 50 per cent of the registered women participated in the last election adds to the difficulty of the statisticians.It is conceded the women practically hold the balance of power. This is being counted upon in those wards where nonpartisan candidates are entered to a greater degree than in those where the political lines are definitely fixed.The Socialists, who made a surprising showing in the 1912 campaign, when they elected three members of the legislature and came close to landing the state's attorney-general, are considering their fight in the Tenth and Twenty-seventh wards.Attack McDermott and Borgen.
The Englewood Law and Order league,
through its attorney, John E. Lyle, has directed an attack on Ald. Frank McDermott of the Twenty-ninth and Ald. Henry P. Bergen of the Thirty-first wards, allied with the Sullivan Democratic faction.The league is urging to use their influence with the police and police court judges to the interest of offenders.The defense has been, said Mr. Lyle, of a decidedly nature. And yet I have seen at least two aldermen sent into court and sentenced to jail for the same offense.SWEITZER WARNS BARTZEN FACTIONIndicates They Must Not Seek Re-election Under Banner of Sullivanites.

OPENS COUNTY CAMPAIGN

County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer fired
the opening gun in the Democratic county campaign yesterday in a speech before the Sullivan branch of the County Democracy.
Prior to Mr. Sweitzer's appearance the organization endorsed him for reelection by a unanimous standing vote.Mr. Sweitzer plainly indicated that certain Democrats now holding office may find rough riding if they try to seek re-election as Sullivanites. Although he announced he was speaking "generally" and did not mention any names his remarks were interpreted by several present as a slap at the rough-rider element of the county board.When I took office nearly four years ago," he said, "I announced an open door policy, and I have adhered strictly to it. I have always believed that every voter is the boss of a public official and so believe now. Any Democrat who has failed to live up to his platform pledges should be put out of office,
and it is the duty of this organization to help put him out."His Remarks to Borgen.
Mr. Sweitzer also paid a tribute to Roger C.
Sullivan, whom he credited with having given him his start in politics. He said he was proud of Mr. Sullivan's interest in him."We have a greater incentive than ever to work for this year," he said, "now that Mr.
Sullivan is a candidate for the senate. He might have claimed this office under the so-called spoils system years ago, but he saw fit to wait and submit his candidacy to the people, who now alone may say whom they want to represent them in Washington."Robins Back from Tour.
Raymond Robins, chairman of the Progressive state committee, returned to Chicago yesterday from a tour of the Twenty-fourth congressional district, where he finished organizational work on Saturday. He has now visited forty-one counties in the state and expects to complete his round of the state
by May or June.I was greatly impressed with the attention to the campaign, said Mr. Robins. "This is one part of the state in which we did not make an encouraging showing in 1912. I spoke at a meeting in Hardin, and although the weather was against me and the crowd small, I was sure of it. We will elect the sheriff there surely."Mr. Robins reiterated his determination not to permit himself to be drafted as the Moore candidate for United States senator.
He said he believed the Progressive candidate would win in the senatorial fight, but said he had too much work to do at the head of the state organization personally to enter the race.More Interested in Party.
"I am more interested," he said, "in preparing for the fall campaign than I am in seeking an office for myself. We will put up a complete ticket, and only I am badly deceived will surprise the old parties."Mr. Robins will depart tonight for Kansas, where he will make a series of speeches in the interest of Henry J. Allen, the Progressive candidate for governor of the Sunflower state. A speech by him recently in Topeka ended Mr. Allen, a Kansas editor and former Washington correspondent, to announce his candidacy for governor.ADVISES DELAY
ON BOND ISSUECommissioner Board Says
Squabble Would Tie Up Hospital Money.

CONDEMNNS POLICE CELLS.

Severe criticism of the ruling majority of the county board and the proposed hospital bond issue was made by Commissioner E. M.
Board, who spoke yesterday before the Woman's forum at the City club.
"I am opposed," he said, "to the proposed issue of $4,000,000 bonds for the county hospital. I regard the amount as excessive, and I think its issue at the present would serve little purpose, because the majority would not confirm the appointment of the architect that President Alexander A. McCormick would name. I would suggest the issue be deferred until the county election next November. Its issue now would mean that the money would be useless for several months."Condemns Police Station.
Major James Mifflin, chief of the efficiency division of the civil service board, characterized Chicago's police and fire stations as a disgrace. In speaking of the proposed bond issue of $2,500,000 for police stations, and $1,000,000 for fire stations, he said:
"Of the forty-six police stations in Chicago only six are fit for human habitation.
The rest are filthy beyond description. The herding of the women prisoners in the adjoining cells with the men is one of the great defects that the bond issue will remedy."With regard to the fire stations, it is my opinion Chicago is no better guarded against a city-wide conflagration than it was in 1871.
Wants Bathing Beach Bonds.
Support of the forum for a bond issue for bathing beaches was asked by Ald. Albert W. Sullivan.We do not realize," he said, "what a great asset our lake front is.
That some of the responsibility for these bond issues should rest on our children and grandchildren," was asserted by Dr. Julia Holmes Smith.

GIRL ACCUSES CHICAGO YOUTH.

One of Assaulters.St. Louis, Mo., March 29.—(Special.)—Miss Catherine Gleason, of 2909 Belle Glade avenue, who is 18 years old, was attacked by two men in Fairground park last night after her assailants had driven off with a bulletproof car and some three youths
who were assaulting her home from a park.
The youths summoned the police and when they arrived several men fled in the darkness. One of them, who is said to be Charles Holden, 18 years old, of 1405 East Fifty-fifth street, Chicago, was captured.Miss Gleason was hospitalized and started to sue from the policeman and her friends.
Holden declared Miss Gleason called to him for assistance and he went to her. Miss Gleason denied Holden's story.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL A FEAR?

Washington, D. C., March 29.—(Special.)—
That the discharge of 20,000 employees by the New York Central railroad and of 15,000 by the Pennsylvania lines may be part of a plan devised to arouse popular support for the 5 per cent increase in freight rates sought by the carriers was suggested today by Clifford Thorne, Iowa railroad commissioner."I sincerely trust," Mr. Thorne said, when asked for his view of the wholesale discharge, "that the exploitation of the discharge of these men has not been done for the purpose of influencing the commission. If these acts are done at this particular time for the purpose of influencing the decision in this case, one way or the other, and if that is the object in view in taking off some sixty passenger trains, and removing other facilities which will seriously discommode
the public, then these are very effective methods of browbeating this tribunal—nothing more and nothing less.""Our worst methods are old and acquainted. I do not claim that is the object. I hope sincerely that it is not the object, and that these gentlemen do not hope to influence this distinguished tribunal in that manner."Tactics Used in Iowa.
"Gov. Larrabee, one of the pioneers in the movement for intelligent railroad regulation, described in his book on railroads, with great detail, precisely these same tactics which were used in the state of Iowa twenty-five years ago."The discharge of 40,000 men does not prove a solitary fact at issue in this case.
It simply proves the colossal power of a few men, that can throw 40,000 families out of the means of daily sustenance. We know they had this power before they ever discharged the men. If that is to be the test for deciding this case, there is absolutely no reason why the same method cannot be reported to a year from now and the following year, and so on for the future.If such acts are to control the results in cases involving annual returns on a substantial portion of our entire national wealth,
these governmental regulations, in a fact,
the sooner we find that out, the better it will be for all concerned—but I cannot believe for an instant that such will be the case.Agrees Action Is Epoch Making.
"Mr. Willard has stated this case is epoch-making. I agree with him—it is epoch-making. It is a test case to see whether the people of this country are willing to have the issues determined by a disinterested, expert tribunal upon the facts proven to be true."The railroads claim a crisis exists in their business. We accept that issue. And I hope that the atmosphere can be cleared for a fair, dispassionate, well balanced view of the merits of the case, independent of all outside influences, brought about by the most colossal aggregation of combined wealth existing in the United States.Congress is to take a hand in the railroad situation. As soon as the Panama debate is out of the way, several congressmen will introduce resolutions calling upon the interstate commerce commission to investigate immediately the statements of the Pennsylvania, New York Central, and other carriers concerning the number of men they have laid off and the number they expect to lay off.Used Discharges as Club?
There is a deep seated conviction about the capital that the railroads are attempting to force the commission to grant them the increase whether it is needed or not by tactics which threaten the country's prosperity.The interstate commerce commission will endeavor this week to ascertain whether the Illinois Manufacturers' association, the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Chicago board of trade, and other commercial organizations were approached concerning the 5 per cent rate increase before the railroads asked the commission to grant it.Information has been furnished the commission that these bodies, through their traffic managers and traffic boards, agreed not to fight the increase under certain conditions.Hearings will be held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week on the lake and rail rates. Representatives of the Chicago association will be present to oppose the increase.SEES HIS JEWELS ON WOMAN.

bridge party at 4918 South Dearborn street on Saturday night. Fred Brewer had his partner, Miss Ruth, who was dressed in a black gown. When she came back to him he noticed that her hands were sparkling with jewels. Then he saw a woman popped out. They were his jewels, stolen from his room on March 11. He accused her and telephoned the police. When they arrived Miss Clara went and told them that Brewer had given her the rings. The police were sent to 4918 South Dearborn

was only after a long search that they found him in the kitchen kitchen. He is charged with the theft of the jewels.Has Any One Seen

SIX GIRLS DISAPPEAR IN CITY

Missing Range in Ages from 12
Years to 25.

CHILD DISAPPEARS FROM CAR

Missed from Family Circle at Transfer Point.The police list of missing women was swelled yesterday by the addition of seven names, mostly of young girls, most of whom have dropped out of sight in the last few days. Up to a late hour the police had found no trace of any of them.The names and descriptions have been sent through the stations and the follow-up men particular ordered to watch for the missing ones.Seven Listed as Missing.
The list follows:
Della Cattina, 12, 307 West Twenty-fourth street, disappeared yesterday.
Josephine Stella, 16, 1341 South State street;
disappeared Saturday.
Edna Samuels, 14, 1099 Ravenswood park avenue, missing since Saturday.
Tillie Rodke, 15, 335 Martin street, Oak Park; disappeared Saturday; believed to be dead.Emma Houston, 25, Leavitt, Ky.; came to Chicago Dec. 15 and disappeared.
Dorothy Linton, 17, and Mrs. Mabel Kraft, 28, both of Hammond, Ind.; disappeared here after arriving March 27.The Stella girl's father, a tinsmith, said
the child quit work a week ago and refused to find a new place.
"I told her to stay in the house until she changed her mind," he said. "If she caught I'll advise the judge to put her in a home until she learns to behave herself."Misses One of Six Children.
James Cattina, his wife, and six small children visited friends on the west side yesterday. At West Twelfth and South Clark streets Cattina noticed that Della was missing. He asked the police to search for her.
It is believed she fell asleep on the street car.According to Hammond neighbors the Kraft woman left her husband and baby and brought the younger girl to Chicago with her. The neighbors said she had been away from home before.Mary Murphy of 2807 Aberdeen street, the 15 year old girl who disappeared from the home of her uncle, Andrew Madony, on March 27, was found yesterday walking with a girl companion at West Sixty-second street and Wentworth avenue. The girl told the police that she had been staying at the home of Joseph Herndon, 800 East Twenty-ninth street, whom she said she had known several years.Chinese Tong Slayer Held;

CIVIL WAR IS FEARED

King Hopes to Prevent Hostility Sought by Radical Section of Liberals.

TEMPER IN BELFAST A MENACE

LONDON, March 30, 2 p. m.—The Conservative morning papers assert that Field Marshal Sir John French and Gen. Ewart have declined not to withdraw their resignations
but no official announcement has been made or is expected until parliament reconvenes today.Brig. Gen. Hubert Gough, commander of the Third cavalry brigade, has left Curragh
for some unknown place for a week's holiday
and in order to avoid interviews.
The debate in the house of commons today on the army is likely to be as hot as any thing that has ever been heard in parliament. The temper of the members are of white heat all around and the wings of the various parties have issued urgent memoranda for all the members to be in their seats.King Fears Civil War.
The royal which was brought about by the Ulster trouble will create and sort of civil war is admitted in Great Britain as well as by impartial observers from abroad. The king himself shrinks from this danger.
The Liberal extremists wish to plunge the United Kingdom into civil war because Ulster refuses to secede from the union. Ulster fears oppression, persecution, and, above all,
fiscal extortion on the part of the home rule government to be established at Dublin. It proposes to see in home rule a mortal danger to its wonderful commercial prospects and to its thriving industries.No matter whether these apprehensions are well founded or not, it cannot be denied that they exist.
Extremists Evade Situation.
Extremists, both of the Unionist and Liberal parties, have done everything in their power to evade the situation, the Nationalists in the house of commons, however, displaying a most commendable courage
King George, more eager than ever to bring about some sort of an understanding, managed recently to secure from the cabinet and from the Nationalists an agreement to decide Ulster from the operation of the home rule bill for a term of six years, and from the Unionists a pledge that if the entire home rule question were again submitted to the electorate of the United Kingdom, by means of a general election, they would abide the verdict, even if it were in favor of home rule.Neither of these offers proved acceptable.
The Unionists would not hear of the idea of Ulster coming within the scope of home rule government at the end of six years, against its will, while the administration was equally reluctant to accept the idea of an appeal to the people, declaring that it had pledged itself to the Nationalists to carry the home rule bill through, before the expiration of the present parliament.Even then the crisis of the last week might have been averted, had not certain members taken upon themselves to order movements of troops and of warships to Ulster, with the avowed object of creating any resistance there to home rule.Why Anguish Has Compromised.
Of course the king has his disposal perfectly legitimate means of preventing such government, which it is well to bear in mind
in connection with the radical charges of weakness brought against Premier Asquith.
There is nothing whatever to prevent the sovereign from dissolving parliament, with or without the consent of the cabinet.
He has likewise full authority to dismiss the latter, no matter how large its majority in the house of commons, following the precedent in this respect of William IV., in 1834,
at the time of the great fight on the subject of the reform bill.King George has abundant precedents for dissolving parliament. Confronted as he is with the menace of civil war, with disorganization of the defense forces of the empire, through wholesale resignations of officers, and mutiny of the men, apprehensions, therefore, that home rule is imposed by an overwhelming majority of the upper house of the imperial legislature, and by a majority of the population of the United Kingdom, he cannot be blamed if he wishes to appeal to his people for a manifestation of their belief, by means of a general election.Factional Clash in Belfast.

PITCHERS' DUEL FOR FIVE INNINGS

BY HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

Louisville, Ky., March 20.—(Special.)—The Cubs won the game of the series from Louisville this afternoon, because Humphries and Lavender held the Colonels to three scattered hits, while the National leaguers unloaded their safeties at times when Woodburn, who hurled the last four rounds for the opposition, was most generous. Score, 5 to 0.

O'Day's men did not have on their heavy batting clothes and for five rounds it was a pitchers' duel between Grover Londermilk, once a Cub, and Humphries. Honors were practically even, but the Cubs counted one run in the opening inning on a pass and three successive sacrifice hits, which were made possible when Seaver directed a wide heavy to first in fielding a bunt.

Humphries escaped without being scored against after he had dug a hole for himself in the fifth by leaving two bases on balls which were separated by a double. Bert caused a pinch hitter to lift a fly to Corridon, then Gump came to the rescue with a somewhat catch of a short fly to right field, which looked like a sure safety.

Londermilk allowed only two hits during his five rounds and was in trouble only because of a quartet of passes. Woodburn, who followed the former Cub, was solved for five safeties in four innings and was unfortunate in that one of his two passes and a punctured batman figured in the tally collection.

Lavender went the last three innings for the O'Days and the only Colonel to reach the initial cushion did so by grace of Jimmy's loss base on balls.

Umpire Banishes Pierce.
What would otherwise have been a staid and peaceable affair was enlivened in the fifth inning—the only one in which Humphries was under stress—by the ejection from the playing field of George Pierce, Umpire Knapp attempted to live up to his name by losing count of the balls called on McHenry and allowed the batsman to walk on three wide ones, filling the sacks. This brought a volley of abuse from the Cubs, without avail. Pierce protested the ejection from an impromptu seat against the stand while the succeeding batsman was trying to grant the request of the rotters to "hit her out."

In his verbal bouquet Pierce made an unpleasant reference to the arbitrator and was ordered from the stand. George moved slowly to satisfy Knapp, who motioned toward a mule of the law. The umpire promptly hit behind a fence. Pierce, however, made his departure upon advice from the Cub bench to a point in right field where he could see the combat from behind a wire screen.

Capt. Leach decided not to risk his legs in the sixth and seventh innings. He remained in his old place at third base, while Corridon resumed his shortstop position and took Leach's place at the top of the line. The Cubs' lineup was: "Red" worked the opening batter for a walk, one of which yielded the first run, batted home two runs and a home run in the sixth and seventh, and scored his second run in the sixth when "Red" doubled with a safety to center.

CALS BEAT VENICE

IN COAST FINAL, 5-1

Rain Ends Damp Battle After Five Innings with White Sox in Front.

START TRIP HOME TODAY

Game at Yuma in Doubt Because of Poor Train Service; Oaks Get Hurler Prough.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 20.—(Special.)—Rain put a wet blanket on the finish of the White Sox stay in California, but did not altogether drown out the final game of the sunshine set, for it was possible to get in five innings of damp baseball, and the result was 5 to 1 in Chicago's favor, the Venice Tigers being their opponents again.

If the high fog which developed into a real down east rain storm before night had not got away a few hours earlier the Sox party would have been on their way east in the afternoon. Secretary O'Neill endeavored to convince the Venice officials that the weather man's prediction of rain would come through and to have a game called off before noon, because it was cold and threatening all the morning. If they had listened to the secretary he could have arranged to hook the White Sox sleeper on to the 5:30 o'clock train, which would have landed the party in Yuma tonight.

Game Today in Doubt.

Because the natives admit it rains in California, it will be necessary to take an early morning train, which may or may not get the Sox to Yuma in time to play ball tomorrow afternoon. At best the players will have to dress on the train, which is scheduled to arrive at 8:30 o'clock, and hustle to the ball yard for a belated scrum with the Cactus team. If the railers is late there will be no pastime, of course. There is no railroad connection between here and Arizona from middle afternoon until the next day.

In spite of the outlook, there were a thousand persons at the ball park, the game was in practice, as all they had to do was to get in a drizzle, which kept increasing in density until it made baseball impossible. The umpires kept the players at it, however, until they had completed five innings so as to retain the public's money without danger of being called for. Then it was called a "game" and everybody hiked for dry land.

Scott Hurls for Sox.

Scott hurled the damp pill for the White Sox and got along all right for three rounds, then the ball was so slippery he could do little with it. In the fourth inning Scott issued four bases on balls and was hit for one single. The combination was good for only one run, as they left. Then it was raining off first base and picked Bayliss off second with Weaver's help.

The Sox corralled three hits for two runs off Edmondson in the first inning, while the going was fair. Singles by Alcock, Chase, and Collard landed the trick, with the aid of a wild pitch. In the third inning Chase's double and Weaver's single made another tally. Then it became fearful, and the Sox scratched three hits for two runs in the fourth.

The players tried to get out in the fifth so as to get a wet. Collins also hit for two runs, but the Sox were too slippery. The Sox scored three runs in the fifth, but the Sox were too slippery. The Sox scored three runs in the fifth, but the Sox were too slippery.

Drop Drops Pitcher Prough.

Manager Alcock completed a deal which reduced the Sox roster by one, selling Pitcher Prough to the Oakland team. Prough has been with the Sox since he was a kid, and he was a good pitcher. He was a good pitcher. He was a good pitcher.

There are six more days for the Sox to practice on the local field, and during that time Manager Tinker expects to put on the finishing touches so that a week from today, when they go to New Orleans to exhibit there for four days, he will be able to present a regular major league team in every sense of the word.

To accomplish this there will be two practice sessions a day from now on. The morning work will be devoted chiefly to batting and fielding and every afternoon, if possible, a game will be played between the regulars and the rookies in order to perfect the little inside plays that will be necessary when the championship race is started.

Tinker will keep the infield tight for these practice games. Little Johnny Farrell will play second, at which position he is the best. Tinker himself will play short and Eddie Seaver will play third. The outfield will be made up of the regulars and the rookies.

Only Two Make Complaints.

The players should be in pretty fine physical condition when they leave here for the trip toward the north. Among the regulars only two have complained since to be Tinker himself and Tom Seaver, our star hurler. Tinker has a "Charley horse" and it hinders him a bit in his running. Seaver has not perfected the condition of his high-spirited pitching arm and complains of some soreness, but is not worrying about it.

Both Hendrix and Brennan, the other two stars of the pitching staff, are ready for combat. Hendrix is so fit that he is asked permission to take at least one afternoon of this week to go fishing for a package from home. Only the other day he received a package from home and it contained the newest Chicago outfit.

Cal Colas, the young outfielder, who had a hot extract from his right knee the other day, was able to walk without the aid of a cane. He is expected to leave tomorrow for the camp of the Kansas City Federal, to which club he has been sent.

CORN MART HAS STRONGER TONE

Free Selling Caused by Heavy Plate Offerings Causes Oversold Condition.

CASH CALL LESS URGENT.

Wheat Trade Is Narrow; Crop Outlook Helped by Rains; Products Steady.

Trade in corn last week was of enormous proportions and there were wide swings in prices. During the fore part of the week there was a declining tendency, which developed an oversold pit condition, resulting in a sharp reaction upward. At the moment the market appears to be decidedly a two-sided affair, with both bulls and bears aggressive whenever they gain the least advantage. The bulls take the ground that the shortage in the crop will more than outweigh Argentine competition and other nearby considerations. It is asserted that stocks on the farms in the surplus states are small, that the high price of hogs and live stock generally will put a premium on farm consumption even at the prevailing high prices for corn, and that the short supplies in the middle west will make the usual eastern outlet for corn a negligible factor.

Farm Consumption Heavy.
The argument is also presented that the consumption of corn during the remainder of the crop year will be heavy, while the states raising a surplus last year have marketed a large percentage of this. Consequently a fairly urgent demand for cash corn is expected to continue throughout the summer.

The bull leaders have laid great stress on the Argentine crop. The pressure of plate corn for shipment to the Atlantic and Gulf ports for April, May, June, and July was a big factor in checking the rising tendency in prices which culminated about a week ago. Owners of Argentine corn have sold large quantities for April shipment as well as for later shipment, and so anxious have they been to take western orders of the high prices current in this country that they have marked their prices down decisively in order to effect sales. A week ago plate corn was sold at Chicago May price of 1.15, 1.16, 1.17, 1.18, 1.19, 1.20, 1.21, 1.22, 1.23, 1.24, 1.25, 1.26, 1.27, 1.28, 1.29, 1.30, 1.31, 1.32, 1.33, 1.34, 1.35, 1.36, 1.37, 1.38, INTERIOR DECORATIONS & FURNISHINGS begins this morning with prices the lowest of the year. The experience of all these years results in assortments notable for their variety and good taste. The finest Lace Curtains, the newest patterns—many of them exclusive with us—are ready in the splendor of their Spring freshness.

LACE CURTAINS by the pair, from $1.00 to $100.00.

CURTAIN MATERIALS, 10c to $10.00 a yard.

Upholstery Sections, Fifth Floor.

New Canterbury and Colonial Cretonnes for 1914 Are Ready

Canterbury and Colonial Cretonnes represent the choicest of modern ideas. But we not only carry lines replete with the newest things, we help our customers to use them most effectively. The displays themselves are arranged to this purpose—to suggest the numerous decorative uses of Canterbury and Colonial Cretonnes.

CANTERBURY CRETONNES, 35c to $6.50 a yard, imported and controlled by us.

COLONIAL CRETONNES, 25c to 75c a yard, designed and made in America by us.

Upholstery Sections, Fifth Floor.

Inexpensive Lace Curtains and Colonial Cretonnes are sold in the Basement Salesroom.

Fine Oriental Rugs—Hundreds Below the Usual Wholesale Prices

When Marshall Field & Company advertise Rugs it is a good time to buy them. The confidence of our customers is our greatest asset.

Customers may now buy Rugs at lower prices than we have known for some time. We consider it fortunate that our representatives were in the market when two prominent Rug-importing firms joined forces. We bought the selection of the entire stock of one of them.

These are the same qualities that characterize our regular lines. The values emphatically are greater than it is possible to give ordinarily. The Rugs listed below are but a few of the hundreds of the Rugs in this lot:

An Oriental Rug is like a fine watch; it must be handled carefully. For the convenience of our customers we clean and repair Oriental Rugs at very reasonable rates.

Our Annual Exhibit of Summer Furniture—Greater Than Ever

There is, we believe, no finer display of Summer Furniture in America.

For Town and Country Homes, Porches, Sun Parlors and Gardens

One cannot walk in the midst of this inviting display without feeling that here, if nowhere else, are to be found Furnishings most suitable for one's individual needs.

The model house with its six rooms, sun porch, pergola and terrace is fitted with the one thought of giving our customers suggestions which they may use in their own homes.

Every piece of Furniture in our stocks has been chosen with a scrupulous regard for the exacting demands of an exclusive clientele—but priced so reasonably that the humblest cottage or the smallest porch can be furnished at moderate cost.

The entire South Building, State Street, Eighth Floor, is devoted to this Exhibit.

Chinese Grass and Cane Furniture Cool—Comfortable—Beautiful

The imported pieces illustrated are particularly adaptable for use in Sun Parlors, Porches, or in the home. Their quaint, artistic, graceful lines have a clearly defined individuality.

Hong Kong hour glass Chairs, in peeled cane, $4.25.

Hong Kong hour glass Stools, serviceable either as a seat or stand, $1.75.

Empress of India Chairs, of unusual lightness and comfort, $7.50.

Hong Kong Tiffin Tables, of unique design and great convenience. Made of split bamboo with folding stand and detached trays. In three sizes, each Table packed in a carton—insuring safety in shipping and attractiveness as a gift. Top tray 20 in. diameter, $3.50; 27 in. $4.50; 32 in., $5.75.

Clearance of High Grade Furniture at Low Prices

Hundreds of pieces—both domestic and imported—at prices greatly below normal market values. Furniture for any home and for every room in any home. Moving our Furniture Section into new and enlarged space results in our desire to sell all odd pieces, year old stock, discontinued patterns, and pieces from unusual purchases, etc.

Bedroom Furniture, Sixth Floor—Living Room, Dining Room, and Novelty Furniture, Eighth Floor.

The Dresser and Chiffonier illustrated are from a Bedroom Set in antique brown mahogany, beautifully designed and proportioned. The drawers are dust-paneled and of generous size. The prices of the different pieces follow:

Dresser, $49.50.

Chiffonier, $47.50.

Toilet Table, $37.50.

Full size Bed, $47.50.

$49.50

This Cut Glass Will Sparkle Like So Many Diamonds on the Easter Table

The prices are so very low because we bought under favorable conditions.

China—1914 Import Samples at Less Than Import Prices—from Famous Potteries

Every one of these potteries is a household name—known and recognized as a maker of the finest China. We bought the samples direct from the New York offices where they had served their purpose in taking orders during January and February.

HAVILAND & CO. SAMPLES: Dinner Plates, 50c up to $2.00; Teacups and Saucers, 75c to $1.50.

ROYAL DOULTON SAMPLES: Service Plates and Cups and Saucers, $1.00 to $10.00 each.

WM. GUERIN & CO. SAMPLES: Vegetable Dishes, covered, $1.50 to $5.00.

A Japanese Water Garden Will Freshen Up the Table on Easter Morning

One of these quaint Gardens, with its queer little figures, its growing trees and grass, and its cool, fresh water, adds a pleasing touch of Spring to the entire dining room.

Complete Sets, $1.00, $2.50 and $5.00. Or separate pieces from 5c to 15c.

Art Wares Section, Second Floor.

Clearance of Our Entire Stock of Wall Paper

including the newest Spring Patterns for 1914, priced remarkably low at from 7½c to $6.00 a roll.

Not one roll in our extensive stock is excepted. Thousands of rolls, hundreds of exclusive patterns. We have never held such a sale before.

In justice to themselves, we urge our customers to buy now—even though the need for Wall Paper is not immediate.

The entire stock of Wall Paper in the Basement Salesroom also is reduced.

Brass Beds for the Modern Apartment

The adaptability of a Brass Bed to the modern apartment is generally recognized. Its lightness and cheeriness especially commend it when the room is small.

Two very distinct patterns, one with continuous posts, and one with straight posts of Colonial design, are priced very low at $15.00.

In most homes at house-cleaning time one or more Mattresses require renovating. A factory equipment that is modern in every detail, coupled with surroundings that are sanitary to an unusual degree, should appeal to the prudent housewife—such a factory is that of Marshall Field and Company. Every Mattress sent us to be made over is sterilized before work upon it is begun.

Imported Aluminum Rice Boilers and Tea Kettles

If a woman has one of these Rice Boilers in her kitchen she really has two utensils—as the cover will fit either the inner or outer vessel, and the two may be used as separate pans or together as a Rice Boiler. Both vessels have heavy tin handles which do not get hot quickly. 1 quart, $1.00; 2 quarts, $1.35; 3 quarts, $1.50.

The Tea Kettles like the Rice Boilers are of a dependable quality of aluminum. 2 quarts, $1.35; 3 quarts, $1.45; 4 quarts, $1.55.
